Harriman Bans New State Construction And Sets Stage for Legislative Fight

Congress Meets; Probes to Come

Both Parties Know Next Two Years Will Bear Heavily on '56 Campaign

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—Congress, back under Democratic control after two years of Republican rule, convened today with the new majority party talking of cooperation with the Eisenhower Administration but set to push probing fingers into many of its activities.

Amid the geniality attending the opening of the session, both parties were mindful that the record of the next two years will weigh heavily with the voters in the 1956 presidential election.

The Democrats were already shaping up inquiries into the controversial Dixon-Yates contract, which many of them view as a public vs. private power fight, and into the administration's handling of security risks among government employes.

President Eisenhower will come before the legislators tomorrow to present his legislative program in the customary State of the Union message. Some parts of it already have been disclosed informally.

AMONG THEM: A new military manpower program, keyed to building up a big ready reserve of training young men; postponement of tax cuts scheduled for spring under present law on business income, liquor, tobacco, automobiles and some other items.

Preliminary to the formal convening of Congress at noon, many of the members attended a special church service with the President.

In the National Presbyterian Church, they heard prayers for their guidance, for the nation, for the President, for peace. There was also a special petition for efforts to obtain the release of American prisoners held in Red China.

Eisenhower on his part has pledged cooperation with the Democratic-run Congress. And such party leaders as Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and speaker Rayburn have promised the

Stassen Says File Shows Loyalty

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Foreign Operations Administration (FOA) announced today it has hired Wolf Ladejinsky, fired as a security risk from his post as agricultural attache in the Tokyo embassy, to do a job in Viet Nam.

Foreign Aid Administrator Harold Stassen said in the announcement that FOA has reviewed Ladejinsky's file and found him "eligible for certification for security and loyalty."

He commented that "in this very difficult matter of evaluating personnel from a security standpoint, individuals sometimes reach different conclusions even as judges of any court sometimes have dissenting opinions."

THE SHIFT TO FOA, which had been predicted earlier, was at least a partial solution for a problem that had ranged the agriculture department and the

IN HARMONY—Senate Republican leaders reelected their party leadership at a caucus which was officially described as full of "good will" and harmony. The leaders are shown outside the Capitol in Washington. Council Votes Budget; Beach Maneuver Loses

A city budget fixing the 1955 tax rate at $54.72 per $1,000, based on $1,733,195.59 to be raised by taxes, was adopted by the Common Council by a party vote of eight to five last night.

The five Democratic aldermen refused sanction of the budget contending that changes could be made in three minor items.

One of these included the proposal to charge a "modest fee" at the Kingston Point beach and preclude the need of a budget provision for the project.

This issue was pressed to a vote on a Democratic resolution calling for a 10-cent charge at the beach, and the proposal lost by another eight-five party vote, with the Republicans opposing.

Other budget items on which the Democrats sought changes dealt with a $35,000 provision for salaries and wages in highway maintenance, and an esti-

Panama Offers $50,000 Reward

Panama, Jan. 5 (AP)—Panama is to offer a $50,000 reward for information leading to the killers of President Jose Antonio Remon. The government also has asked the National Assembly to appropriate another $50,000 to defray investigation expenses.

As secret police pushed an all-out hunt for the slayers of the 46-year-old chief executive, the lawmakers unanimously approved the first reading yesterday of an administration bill authorizing the payments. The measure was believed certain of final passage, probably Thursday.

THE ASSEMBLY VOTE came as authorities indicated identification of the weapons used in the Sunday slayings implicated ex-president Arnulfo Arias, one of 66 persons arrested in a countrywide sweep for Remon's assassins.

Col. Bolivar Vallarino, head of Panama's National Guard, said the weapons were German-made

Strike Enters Fifth Day; No Contract

New York, Jan. 5 (AP) — A teamsters' strike against wholesale produce markets went into its fifth day today after prolonged mediation sessions broke up and a union spokesman said no agreement was in sight.

Until nearly midnight last night, State Mediator Louis Yagoda met with employer groups and representatives of Local 202 of the AFL Teamsters Union. He reported both sides had yielded somewhat but there was still a wide gap between the two parties.

Thomas L. Hickey, an international vice president of the teamsters, left the meeting saying, "there doesn't seem to be any possibility of a quick settlement of the dispute."

Bond Issue Passage Is Seen Sure

Neither Side Gives Fuel Boost View

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP) — Final legislative approval of a 750-million-dollar state highway bond issue appeared certain today, as Gov. Harriman endorsed a proposal already approved by Republican leaders.

But neither the Republicans nor the Democratic forces headed by Harriman have indicated definitely whether they will go along with the current proposal for financing it—a 2-cent-a-gallon increase in the state gasoline tax and a 3-cent-a-gallon boost in the diesel fuel levy.

APPROVAL of the bond issue was among the GOP objectives listed yesterday by Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Senate Leader Walter J. Mahoney. They did not take a stand on the fuel-tax rise in their statement, although Heck said later that he personally favored it.

Harriman, in his first message to the Republican-dominated Legislature that opened today urged passage of the bond issue. He asked the lawmakers also to "re-examine" the 1951 law that levied the weight-distance tax on travel by heavy trucks.

Harriman said that his administration would cooperate in any "sound" federal program for new highway construction, but that other funds still would be needed.

HE NOTED that the temporary Highway Finance Commission had recommended a bond issue of 750 million dollars "combined with an increase in fuel taxes," and that the 1954 legislature had given initial approval to two issues—one for 500 million, the other for 750. The understanding was that the legislature would select one to submit to the voters in a referendum.

Harriman told the legislature that he recommended "you pass the bond issue for $750,000,000. But, the governor did not indicate whether he approved the commission's recent proposal for financing it.

The weight-distance tax, Harriman said, has "several weaknesses," including "exceedingly high" cost of administration. He said the law had "imposed upon truck operators a heavy burden of keeping a mass of records," and had "provoked retaliatory action by other states against New York truck operators."

Officers Are Elected

George E. Yerry, Jr., was elected chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority at its annual meeting last night in the administration offices of Colonial Gardens. Other officers elected were Max Mones, vice chairman; George Chilson, treasurer; John A. DeGasperis, assistant treasurer; James J. DeCicco, secretary. Attorney Harry Gold was re-appointed as authority counsel for the ensuing year. Alexander Yosman is manager of the Kingston Housing Authority.

Governor Says Dewey Put NY In Bad Plight

Calls for Bills to Step Up Benefits, Health and Welfare Improvements

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. Harriman, charging the Dewey Administration with spending the state into the red, today banned new construction contracts and said he was forced to trim needed new services from his program.

Harriman, an avowed New Dealer, opened the 1955 legislative session by calling for measures to bolster the state's economy, step up benefits to workers and foster health and welfare improvements.

In his annual message to the Legislature, the state's first Democratic governor since 1942 declared New York "has actually been living beyond its income for several years, spending more than it has received."

HE ANNOUNCED he was temporarily forbidding new construction contracts "until I can be assured through further study that funds will be actually available." Harriman maintained that the capital construction fund was overcommitted and short on cash.

The message, prepared for delivery at a joint session of the Senate and Assembly at noon, set the stage for a pitched battle between the new governor and the Republican majorities in both Houses.

He said "we are in a serious fiscal position" and "many services and projects which our state government should undertake and our people want must be postponed in view of our budgetary plight."

Sharply criticizing measures fostered by Ex-Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and the GOP legislators, he accused the GOP of putting off a "financial day of reckoning."

HARRIMAN CALLED FOR a "fair share" of income for farmers, a fight against slums, a 750-million-dollar bond issue for roads, a measure to protect the public against "financially irresponsible motorists," and immediate legalization of bingo.

On some points the 7,500-word message directly countered proposals set forth yesterday by GOP legislative leaders, who mapped a program of their own and declared "we shall enact it." On others, the two programs agreed.

Harriman proposed, by subjects:

LABOR—Repeal of laws barring strikes by public employes and setting up a merit rating system for employer contributions to unemployment insurance funds; higher workmen's compensation and disability benefits; boosting jobless pay maximums from $30 to $36 a week and adding $4 weekly for each dependent, up to three.

JOBS—Establishment of a development credit corporation to help finance new industry; reorganizing the Commerce Department to promote business.

HIGHWAYS—Adoption of a 750-million-dollar bond issue for road-building, uniform traffic rules, periodic physical check-ups for drivers, and a measure—not necessarily compulsory insurance—to protect drivers against uninsured motorists.

EDUCATION—Postponement of changes in state aid—until a current study is completed—but no cuts in aid for any school system; a new study of television.

AGRICULTURE—A "vigorous educational program" to promote milk drinking; help for marketing and producing cooperatives; prompt hearings on requests for state milk marketing orders; de-

Carlino Is Assembly's NewLeader

Mahoney, Heck Also Designated

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Joseph F. Carlino of Long Beach, Nassau county, today was appointed Republican majority leader of the Assembly by Speaker Oswald D. Heck.

The speaker announced the appointment in the Assembly chamber shortly after he himself was reelected to the speakership when the Legislature convened at noon to hear Gov. Harriman's first annual message.

Carlino, 37, and a lawyer, served in the Assembly continuously since 1945. He is a vice chairman of the Nassau county Republican committee.

As the lawmakers organized for their 1955 session, all other leaders in both Houses were reelected for two-year terms. Also reelected were the administrative officers of the Senate and Assembly.

Gull Conks Woman on Head

Mystic, Conn., Jan. 5 (AP)—A heavy clam, apparently dropped by a sea gull, shattered a second story window of an insurance office here yesterday and struck Mrs. Dorothy Bailey on the head as she worked at her desk.

She was treated by a doctor for cuts of the head and released.

Natives say it is not unusual for gulls from the nearby Mystic river to bombard the downtown buildings with clams and scallops, but people are rarely hit.

Sea gulls drop clams and other shellfish from varying heights in order to break their shells and reach the meat within.

Housing Boss Bans Pets, Alcohol, Big Light Bulbs

Hopewell, Va., Jan. 5 (AP)—Ernest J. Connelly, a book-loving Sunday school teacher who manages a federal housing project here, said he felt the 76 families in the project needed "someone to take care of them."

So yesterday, Connelly sent them a letter forbidding them to drink alcoholic beverages on the premises, keep pets, or light their apartments with bulbs larger than 60 watts.

"Just last year there was a murder here," said Connelly, former librarian and history instructor at Chowan Junior College of Murfreesboro, N. C. "Some of these occupants are very immoral."

Drinking by the tenants violates a clause in theirr leases banning "illegal and immoral" conduct, Connelly declared.

And, he said, pet dogs had been digging holes around shrubbery planted to beautify the project, Thomas Rolfe Court; excessive use of electricity was overloading electric circuits; tenants had been guilty of "poor housekeeping and maintenance of the yard;" and their

U. S. Demands Higher Stock Down Payment

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP) — The government put out a moderately restraining hand toward the surging stock market today, calling for purchasers of stocks to put up at least 60 per cent cash instead of the previous 50 per cent.

The action, announced by the Federal Reserve Board late yesterday, was promptly protested by the New York Stock Exchange president, Keith Funston, as restraining "the proper function of the market and the free interplay of the basic law of supply and demand."

The increased "down payment" is effective on stocks bought today and hereafter.

The stock market has been advancing steadily for more than 15 months, and since the November elections it has been surging ahead with almost unprecedented speed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks slipped yesterday to $155.80 after reaching $156.40 on Monday, a level topped only by the peak of $157.70 on Sept. 3, 1929, shortly before the big Wall Street crash. There were no federal cash minimums in 1929.

The reserve board's action had more a preventive than a fire fighting look.

WHAT IT DID was raise by one-fifth—from 50 to 60 per cent—the margin or cash requirement in stock transactions.

The government has no authority to regulate stock prices. A 1934 law authorizes the reserve board only to "prevent the excessive use of credit" in the stock market. The theory behind the action is that a hike in the cash requirement will cut down on speculative buying.

New York brokers generally agree that speculation on margin is not a major factor in the present boom. The ratio of money borrowed by brokers to lend for margin trading is only about 1 per cent of the value of all securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange. In 1929 it was nearly 10 per cent.

According to the latest available reserve board figures, total credit extended to customers by brokers and dealers increased from $1,655,000,000 on Feb. 1, 1954, to $2,202,000,000 last Nov. 30.

Harriman Asks Entire Revision of Labor Laws

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today called for boosts in minimum wages and unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation and off-the-job disability benefits, all involving a sweeping revision of Republican-sponsored state labor laws.

In his first message to the GOP-dominated Legislature, the Democratic governor also proposed immediate repeal of the Condon-Wadlin law, which forbids strikes by public employes. He dubbed the law "punitive and unworkable."

ENERGETIC opposition by the heavy Republican majorities in both branches of the legislature to many of Harriman's proposals was certain.

Harriman, devoted about one-fourth of his message to labor problems and his ideas for dealing with them. The recommendations, which require tampering with laws passed under Republican administrations, promised to touch off a Legislative tug of war during the next few months.

At least one of them—to raise unemployment insurance benefits—is also part of the Republican program announced yesterday by Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Walter J. Mahoney, Senate majority leader. The Republicans have the votes to enact their proposals.

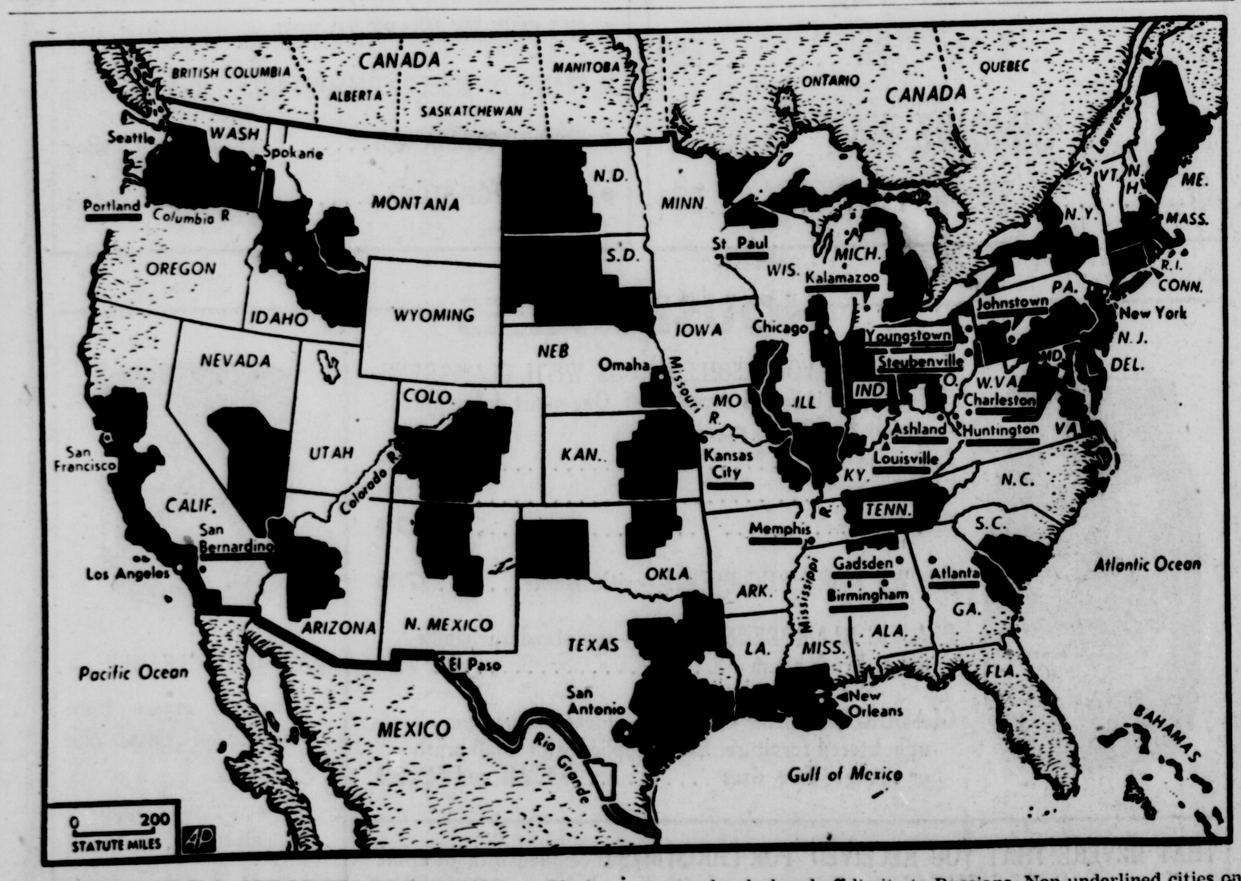

PICKING UP a theme he sounded over and over during his campaign, Harriman urged the Legislature to adopt a joint resolution memorializing Congress to establish a national minimum wage of $1.25 an hour. The present minimum hourly wage is 75 cents.

Harriman lined up squarely with his party's national policy with a promise to fight for revision of the Taft-Hartley Law, which, he contended, "impedes the efforts of labor to organize and to eliminate sub-standards of pay and working conditions."

ON THE STATE LEVEL, the governor proposed specifically:

1. That state minimum wage boards, which now regulate only

In his first message to the GOP-dominated Legislature, the Democratic governor also proposed immediate repeal of the Condon-Wadlin law, which forbids strikes by public employes. He dubbed the law "punitive and unworkable."

ENERGETIC opposition by the heavy Republican majorities in both branches of the legislature to many of Harriman's proposals was certain.

Harriman, devoted about one-fourth of his message to labor problems and his ideas for dealing with them. The recommendations, which require tampering with laws passed under Republican administrations, promised to touch off a Legislative tug of war during the next few months.

At least one of them—to raise unemployment insurance benefits—is also part of the Republican program announced yesterday by Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Walter J. Mahoney, Senate majority leader. The Republicans have the votes to enact their proposals.

PICKING UP a theme he sounded over and over during his campaign, Harriman urged the Legislature to adopt a joint resolution memorializing Congress to establish a national minimum wage of $1.25 an hour. The present minimum hourly wage is 75 cents.

Harriman lined up squarely with his party's national policy with a promise to fight for revision of the Taft-Hartley Law, which, he contended, "impedes the efforts of labor to organize and to eliminate sub-standards of pay and working conditions."

ON THE STATE LEVEL, the governor proposed specifically:

'Youth Must Be Served' No Longer Housing Theme

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Are you discouraged at forty? Forty-five? Fifty?

Take heart. You're a powerful groundswell in the housing market—statistically, that is.

This is something new. For years, "youth must be served" has been the virtual motto of the home-building industry. The returning veteran and his young bride formed the tidal wave of postwar housing demand.

Since V-J Day more than nine million Americans bought homes. About 3,500,000 GI loans have been granted. Before most of these GI privileges end July 25, 1957, it's estimated another five million will be used.

THAT'S THE BIG, brassy music of the housing bandwagon—but a new and significant overtone has been added by a solid segment of demand by oldsters with cash in their jeans.

Home-builders should sit up and take notice at this important fact: There are 57,414,100 folks over 40 compared with 47,682,900 between 20 and 40.

More than 20 years have been added to life expectancy since 1900, according to the national office of vital statistics. Easier living, medical discoveries, steadier incomes from social security, pensions and annuities have made older people livelier customers.

Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York reports that even at 65 there are 34 persons working out of every 100.

IF YOU'RE FORTY you have a life expectancy of 33 more years. At 55 statistics say you'll probably hit 76 before you cash in your chips. So, from the housing viewpoint, it seems worthwhile to make yourself comfortable for the big remainder of your years.

The National Assn. of Home Builders quoted recently from a survey of people over forty conducted by the magazine "Lifetime Living."

This survey showed that 45.6 per cent of these people, even though their average age was in the mid-50's planned to build or buy new homes.

Can they afford to? The NAHB says income is generally in the highest bracket for people between 45 and 54. The survey showed that 80.5 per cent already owned homes. Most of them have about paid up their mortgages if they're in their mid-50s, so they have resources for a big down payment.

A lot of them feel that living with married children is no paradise. And a lot more find they can't do it anyway because junior has flown the coop for a wife and job far away from his folks.

What do the oldsters want in their new homes?

THE SURVEY shows that 96 per cent want a one-story house—no stairs. The preference is for a five-room house with a couple of bedrooms and a single bath nearby.

They're two-to-one against basements; five-to-one against attics. They don't want too much land. Most would settle for less than half an acre. They prefer exterior finishes that require no upkeep.

Other desired features: Screened porch; easily operated windows washable on both sides from within; shelves and cabinets with no-stoop, no-stretch limits; non-skid bathtub and shower bottoms; ample medicine chest with sliding doors.

A study by the Massachusetts State Housing Board says:

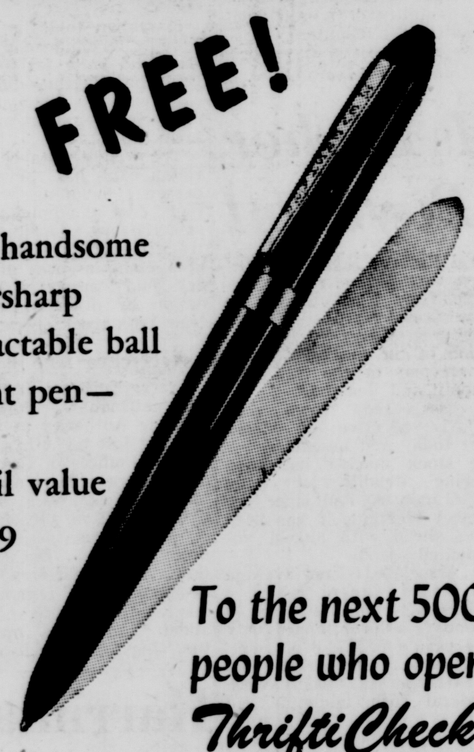

"Housing for the elderly must fulfill two functions. It must accommodate the healthy. It must also accommodate the infirm."

FOCUS FOR '55—Keen attention of British and American diplomats will be focussed on the Middle East, particularly the Arab League, during 1955. Goal of U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden will be to build a stable Middle East defense command. But they feel this will be impossible until Israel and the Arab states sign a permanent peace treaty. So the first efforts will be concentrating on bringing these long-warring foes together. In the meantime, the Arab League nations have voted to form an "Arab mutual defense pact" against "foreign aggression." It is also designed to permit Arab governments to "deal freely with American military and economic aid offers." Map shows the Arab League countries, with inset showing the League is almost as large as the United States.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 5, 1955

BANNER HOMEBUILDING YEAR

State Housing Commissioner Stichman indicates that the continued strong demand for new homes should make 1955 a banner year for homebuilding. Among the important factors supporting the housing demand are the following:

The need for larger dwelling units as the birth rate continues to rise and larger families become more prevalent.

Increasing ability of young and older couples to maintain separate homes.

Dissatisfaction with older houses, their inconveniences and often their surroundings.

The construction of new homes in the City of Kingston and the immediate surrounding area undoubtedly will increase this year. With the increase in new homes to house the people who will come to work here, there will be a greater need for city planning. City codes and ordinances will have to be revised.

Businessmen, civic groups, builders, land owners, realtors, merchants and all other citizens should take an active interest in planning and development projects.

END OF JUNK MAIL

Beginning March 31 "junk mail," which has loaded mail carriers to the aching point, will be banned in the mails. Here is a postal regulation which never should have been permitted and let's hope that it will never again be tried.

Unaddressed mail labelled only for "box holder" has been delivered by rural carriers for many years. About a year and a half ago, the Post Office Department issued a regulation allowing the sending of advertising matter through the mail addressed to the "householder" but carrying no specific names or addresses. Many took advantage of the new regulation and "junk mail" flowed into the postal delivery system.

Both householders and mailmen now will be relieved of this nuisance.

TAX INCREASES

Two more tax increase proposals now are being discussed, it has been revealed. One is the 10 per cent increase in the state income tax law and the other a 50 per cent boost in the state gasoline tax.

The proposed state income tax hike would cost the taxpayers approximately 40 million dollars and the tax on gas and diesel fuel an additional 59 million dollars a year at the current rates of fuel consumption.

Members of our state legislature will be called upon to make the decision.

AIR SAFETY

With inquiry into the ill-fated Italian airliner crash at Idlewild field far from complete, no one can fairly comment on specific causes.

But one thing seems possible: There would have been less likelihood of this happening if this field, like many others, did not have to "stack" planes in tier upon tier of air space when the weather gets thick.

Partly this is just a matter of heavy traffic. But mostly it seems to be a matter of insufficient or inadequate technical devices for either bringing planes through murky weather or keeping them fanned out farther from crowded airports.

In this case, a plane piloted by a skilled Italian veteran of the airline had crossed the Atlantic, a matter usually of at least 16 hours westbound, had set down at Boston to discharge passengers, and then had to circle Idelwild for two solid hours waiting its turn to come in.

When that moment came, for some reason the pilot had difficulty making a successful pass at the field. He tried three times without luck. On the fourth, he came in too low, was advised to pull up, but struck a pier before he could.

With the risks thus multiplied, we are fortunate this sort of thing does not happen much more frequently.

Despite the fashionable talk about coexistence in Washington, the two parties always start to campaign for the next election right after the votes from the last have been counted. How nice it would be to have a law against destructive politicking except at specified intervals every two years.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A HUMANIST'S SERVICE

Corliss Lamont, whose troubles upon this earth seem manifold despite his good fortune of having chosen a successful and wealthy father to sire him, continues to battle a mystical and mysterious God whose ways are beyond his faith and imagination. In pursuit of such a struggle with the Everlasting, Corliss has come up with "A Humanist Funeral Service," which seems a queer way of starting a new religious worship. One would imagine that all things start with birth; for Corliss Lamont, apparently, they start with death.

In the foreword to his Funeral Service, he says:

"There has long been a widely felt need for a funeral service centering around a non-supernatural, Humanist philosophy of existense. The Humanist view, stemming from some of the greatest thinkers in history, rejects the idea of personal immortality and interprets death as the final end of the individual conscious personality. The philosophy or religion of Humanism sets up the happiness and progress of mankind on this earth as the supreme goal of human endeavor."

It is actually a beautiful frame for a departure from this earth but it excludes everything that is even remotely related to the religions that are traditional among us, except a few excerpts from the Epistle of Paul. Surely no one can object to starting a man to the afterplace of his non-being (Lamont does not tolerate a hereafter, a Heaven or a Hell, for that would be unscientific) with the first third of the Second Movement of Beethoven's Seventh Symphony. Nevertheless, it does seem to be that the 23rd Psalm, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," comes closer to the heart of a mourner than a few lines from Ben Jonson's "A Pindaric Ode" or William Cullen Bryant's "Thanatopsis," as beautiful as both are.

It is not only a matter of taste but of depth of emotion; it is not only a matter of cold thought but of warming feeling. What sems to be so stirring in this funeral service is not its contents but that it should be done at all. The atheist or agnostic who takes literally the "scientific" dictum of dust thou art, to dust returneth, that a man is nothing more than a collection of molecules in a special form, a mammal who stands upright and talks his head off, is driven by the emptiness of his soul to turn to religious worship and rejecting the tried expressions of religious fervor among his own kind, turns everywhere for similar religious expression wherever he can find it.

How simple it is, in a cremation commitment, to give the soul of man to God for His mercy! However, Corliss Lamont, whose mind is tortured between the frigid materialism of Karl Marx and the sentimental Humanism of George Santayana, rejects the Psalms but accepts and puts into his service this little slice of Sir Rabindranath Tagore:

"O fire, my brother, I sing victory to you.
You are the bright red image of fearful freedom.
You swing your arms in the sky, you sweep your impetuous fingers
Across the harp-string, your dance music is beautiful. . . .
My body will be one with you, my heart will be caught in the Whirls of your frenzy, and the burning heat that was my Life will flash up and mingle itself in your flame."

Compare that exuberation at death with the comforting 68th Psalm:

". . . When ye lie among the sheepfolds,
The wings of the dove are covered with silver,
And her pinions with the shimmer of gold . . ."

And when one is finished with Lamont's services for the dead, what actually has happened to Corliss Lamont is that try as he will to run from God, what he has only succeeded in doing is to return to God. Were it not so, why does he bother to bury his friends with music and poetry and prayer (which he calls meditation)? Why does he not cast the remains of his Humanists on the dustpile and have his molecules carted away to the sea to sink in the ooze of centuries as forgotten as the flies of a Summer day? Somehow the Humanist sees the Heaven and tries to reach it by song, as do we all in our moments of sadness and despair, when we, gazing into the blaze of a setting sun, exult in the glories of God.

That Body of Yours

MENTALLY RETARDED CHILDREN

"Four million Americans, a million of them children, have minds that stopped growing before the ages of eleven. Although three-quarters of these mentally retarded could be trained to take a small but rewarding place in society, most of them vegetate idly at home or spend their lives unproductively in impersonal institutions, sometimes in insane asylums."

I am quoting the above from a News Release from Life Magazine, which asks why the million U.S. children who are mentally retarded have been so tragically neglected. It is pointed out that in the past parents have felt a needless shame at having a retarded child but that now, fortunately, a new freedom to speak frankly about their unfortunate children today is producing a new point of view which is encouraging to research in the problem which, up to now, has had very little work done on it.

Because of this changing viewpoint, Life magazine ran a two-part series, using real names and cases, to describe the affliction which burdens a million American homes and to examine ways by which the burden can be lightened.

One key to the solution has been found in Nassau county, N.Y., where, to care for the county's 2,500 mentally handicapped, the 775-member branch of the National Association for Retarded Children is putting into operation the most comprehensive plan yet devised. The plan centers around the child and his parents, together with the family doctor and an assigned foster parent to supervise the child's progress and be responsible for him in case the parents die.

Stemming from these key figures are three main branches: social, medical and educational. The social services offer counselors, case workers, and a lawyer to advise parents. The medical services consist of a clinic for diagnosis and treatment, staffed with doctors and consultant specialists. A recreation leader and scoutmaster are added to the educational services of regular teachers; special speech treatment; religious and vocation instruction are also provided. As many of these children will be able to become self-supporting after they have learned a manual skill, a committee of personnel directors from local industries obtains placement for them in a sheltered workshop. The plan is controlled by a salaried executive director, appointed by a board of directors, most of whom are parents of retarded children.

Already parents all over the country have set up clinics and organized sheltered workshops where their children can learn simple skills to make them self-sufficient. They have prodded their states into providing special public school classes. "Yet no single family or single institution can fully solve the problem of retarded children. It is a problem for the whole community." And a wonderful work it is.

"... And Away We Go!"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Signs now indicate that the Russians may be abandoning "Peaceful Coexistence."

For the past several years this has been the theme song of the Communist slumber-hour propaganda. Its commercials have been intended to lull the non-Communist countries into a false sense of security by lessening the tension.

But now there is an apparent shift in the Moscow line. Communist spokesmen seem to be tightening the tension.

There is a note of violence in current Communist statements in Europe as well as in Asia. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles declared after his return from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council meeting in Paris.

It may well be a shift from the cooing dove of peace to a more threatening show of force, the secretary observed to his press conference, after reading a prepared statement on the results of the Paris NATO Council session.

SECRETARY DULLES does not believe that this shift in Communist tactics makes any difference or means any change in the ultimate Soviet objective of world conquest.

He was asked what the effect would be if Soviet Russia should carry out its new threats to break the 20-year alliance with France and a similar treaty with Great Britain for mutual aid against a new German aggression.

For answer the secretary recalled a long series of ineffective threats made by Russia over the past 10 years in its effort to prevent a build-up of western strength.

First were the Soviet threats against the western European countries to prevent them from joining the Marshall Plan.

This was followed by a similar attempt to prevent these countries from ratifying the North Atlantic Treaty.

When Turkey and Greece joined NATO, there was another Soviet bluff to prevent this further extension of the western mutual defense alliance.

WHEN THE United States, Britain and France proposed to create the new Federal Republic of Germany out of their three zones of occupation, the Russians tried to prevent it. Their threat then was that this act would make impossible the ultimate unification of eastern Germany with the west. This was a bluff to stop West Germany's acceptance of independent status, but it failed to accomplish the Russian aim.

When the Japanese peace treaty was signed, Russia refused to accept it. The Communists said that since this treaty violated the armistice agreement, they would be free to resume hostilities against Japan. Of course the Russians haven't taken this step at all. Instead, they are now trying to establish more normal diplomatic and trade relations with the Japanese.

The same thing happened with respect to Yugoslavia. When Tito broke loose from the Communist bloc, the Soviet Union denounced its treaty of friendship with Yugoslavia. But today Moscow is trying its hardest to woo Yugoslavia back into the Communist orbit.

RUSSIAN PRESSURE tactics are now being employed against the western European nations who are on the verge of ratifying the Paris agreements to rearm western Germany. They are being berated in diplomatic notes for refusing to attend a Moscow-inspired, counter European security conference.

But having heard the Russian "Wolf!" cry so often, the western European countries are no longer frightened by it. This is not taken to mean that western Europe can let down its guard.

As made evident by action taken at the NATO council meeting in Paris, the western European governments now seem convinced that the best way to meet Soviet threats is to maintain their own defensive strength. By this they can resist any Communist external pressures or internal subversion.

Secretary Dulles points out that the Russians have not thus far attempted to overthrow any weaker nation by armed intervention if this use of force revealed the Moscow government to be anything but the benevolent, peace-loving nation it professes to be.

The Russians are not above concealing their own aggressive ambitions by using internal revolutionary forces to overthrow non-Communist governments. Any of these countries strong enough to prevent internal uprisings should be able to resist the external pressures of the changed Communist propaganda line.

Two-Party Harmony in Congress Is Unlikely, Despite Sentiments About Cooperation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 4 — There's a lot of double-talk being heard hereabouts which is designed by some of the political spokesmen to convey the idea that in the new session of Congress everything is going to be smooth and calm between the administration and the Democrats.

But the sugar-coated words of professed amiability are merely the tactful way to camouflage the explosive weapons of political combat which are to be used the moment circumstances are most propitious.

When, for example, the Senate's Democratic leader in his public statement says his party isn't going to "oppose" the President but that there will be "differences at times" and that these will represent "convictions," this is but another way of saying that opposition will be vigorously recorded when it's good politics to do so and criticism will be soft-pedaled when it is obviously unpopular.

THAT'S THE WAY it has always been and, at this session in particular, after the rumors of a prospective "cold war" between the Republicans and the Democrats heard during the last campaign, it would be indiscreet, indeed, to announce the declaration of any such war. It's much better to let the obstruction come up with seeming spontaneity. That's good politics.

As for the Democratic caucus in the House—which, of course, wasn't held with newspaper men present—the word got out afterward that Messrs. Rayburn and McCormack of the Democratic leadership had incited a bit of warfare behind closed doors. The United Press reports both these men as having told the caucus of Democrats that they must neither "forgive nor forget" Vice President Nixon for having allegedly impugned the loyalty of Democrats in campaign speeches and that they must not "forgive or forget" President Eisenhower for having commended the vice president for a valuable role in the campaign.

THIS IS MORE like the realistic vocabulary that the politicians use when they bare their innermost thoughts.

So the "cold war" in Congress is likely to crop out in various ways. Maybe the Republicans, too, will not "forgive or forget" that in the 1948 campaign President Truman said the Republican party was "unwittingly the ally of the Communist party." Maybe, also, the Republicans will decide that perhaps Mr. Truman ought to be required to answer for his part in the case of Harry Dexter White. For even though Mr. Truman was advised of the charge that White was a member of the Soviet spy ring in America, two letters of commendation nevertheless were sent to White by Mr. Truman several months after the FBI gave him the reports. Many people outside Washington haven't been able to "forgive or forget" this episode, either.

Then there's the so-called "numbers game," which relates to the statements by the Eisenhower administration that 8,000 or more "security risk" charges were filed against government employes and that included were many thousands of employes who resigned instead of facing trial while many thousands of others were actually dismissed.

SEN. MANSFIELD, of Montana, Democrat, has declared a little war of his own against the Eisenhower administration on the "security risk" controversy. He wants the Senate Civil Service Committee to list the names of persons fired for subversive activities or for being Communists or traitors. He also wants to know which ones were hired by the present or preceding administrations.

It will be recalled that this is exactly how the McCarthy controversy started in the Senate, when the Wisconsin Senator called attention to security risks and then was needled publicly by the Democrats on the floor of the Senate into naming some of those accused.

IF IT IS THE purpose of the Democratic Party to insist that all names be made public—something the Truman administration refused to do—it will, of course, attach a stigma to many persons whose affiliations or connections may have been of a tenuous or short-lived character but who are nevertheless, under existing rules, not considered eligible for government employment.

Maybe the country does want all this linen washed out in public, but, if so, the Democratic party certainly has not favored it heretofore. It must be a sign that the Democrats think it's good politics to argue further about the Communist issue in an attempt to direct criticism at the Eisenhower administration, either for softness or harshness as the case may be.

So the political pot is boiling here notwithstanding the expressions of harmony and brotherly love on Capitol Hill.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 4—I told you that Charles T. Emery, senior special agent in charge of the Little Rock Bureau of Internal Revenue, was given two hours to decide whether he would accept a transfer to Chicago or apply for retirement when he was engaged in an investigation of the income and the tax returns of the Democratic governor.

The governor was Sid McMath, a member of the Truman party machine in the southern tier. McMath is now a strong factor in the incoming administration of Orval Faubus, an alumnus of the Arkansas Communist college called Commonwealth, which was closed by court order in 1941. Faubus was also president of the Commonwealth student council and in 1935 was honored with selection to the position of official student orator on May Day, a Communist political gala.

In June of the same year, the student paper, The Fortnightly, stated that Orval Faubus was one of three persons, two of them students, the third a teacher, who went to the all-Southern Conference of Civil and Trade Union Rights at Chattanooga as "delegates from the United Front on the Campus" of Commonwealth. The Chattanooga conference was held on May 26.

Faubus has intimated that he spent only a "few days" at Commonwealth and that he was not an influential or prominent member of the student body. He also has challenged anyone to say publicly that he is "subversive." Faubus campaigned for McMath, who served two terms as governor in the Truman reign, which remains almost a political closed-shop in the Ozarks. In turn, McMath campaigned for Faubus and they are now close and efficient allies. The Arkansas Gazette, the most powerful individual paper in the area, supports them.

The ultimatum to Emery during the McMath investigation removed from the situation a treasury man who had pursued the facts with determination and skill. That skill had been demonstrated in a number of conspicuous cases and, in general, over a period of 26 years in the Internal Revenue. Had he accepted transfer to Chicago, Emery would have been removed from the McMath case, anyway. The dilemma was personal and almost tragic in respect to his family, for he had become a genuine member of the community in Little Rock and Arkansas. So Emery put in for retirement and went into private practice as a tax consultant.

Some time before the crisis in the McMath case, Emery came upon information indicating that five business men in Fort Smith had put up $50,000 in currency in small denominations which had been delivered to a person in the Muehleback Hotel in Kansas City during Harry Truman's campaign against Tom Dewey in 1948. The Fort Smith Chamber of Commerce was interested in a move to "reactivate" Camp Chaffee, an improvised army post of World War 2, which had been abandoned upon demobilization. The country was going back into the war business as a means of absorbing unemployed men into the armed forces and war industries.

Camp Chaffee had provided a big steady payroll which was profitable to much of Fort Smith's industry and commerce. An emissary was sent to Washington to plead for "reactivation." A prominent Fort Smith banker delivered, if he did not personally provide, a fund to pay the expenses of the Washington journey of the agent, who was an appointed official of a department of the national government serving in Arkansas. Mr. Emery claims to have positive knowledge that the banker deducted from his taxable income as a bad debt the money which he advanced to this Democratic federal appointee for the trip to Washington.

When the mission failed, an unofficial committee of Fort Smith business men started to raise money to bring about the reopening of Chaffee. One of these individuals got a phone call from a prominent Democratic politician in Kansas City to the effect that $50,000 would swing the job, but that the money must be provided by not more than five individuals and not by public subscription.

The money was delivered to the receipient in the Muehlebach while Truman and his campaign party were in the hotel. There is no suggestion that Truman had anything to do with the transaction nor even that he had knowledge of it. Indeed, it is possible that the money did not actually go into the Democratic National Campaign Fund nor any other Democratic campaign fund. It might have been knocked down by the receipient or divided among a number of individuals.

Mr. Emery first heard of the transaction from a Republican national committeeman who told him that he had reported the information to a Democratic senator whom he named. At the time he received the information Emery was having troubles of his own in regard to McMath's taxes and returns so he put it on his list of unfinished business. Emery also noted that there was no crystalized issue of tax fraud or delinquency in the case of the $50,000. Therefore it was not within his narrow official purview, although fraud might have been alleged under some other law.

Mr. Emery would be willing to testify to the facts and the hearsay as he knows them before a Federal Grand Jury or a committee of either House of Congress.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 5, 1955

BANNER HOMEBUILDING YEAR

State Housing Commissioner Stichman indicates that the continued strong demand for new homes should make 1955 a banner year for homebuilding. Among the important factors supporting the housing demand are the following:

The need for larger dwelling units as the birth rate continues to rise and larger families become more prevalent.

Increasing ability of young and older couples to maintain separate homes.

Dissatisfaction with older houses, their inconveniences and often their surroundings.

The construction of new homes in the City of Kingston and the immediate surrounding area undoubtedly will increase this year. With the increase in new homes to house the people who will come to work here, there will be a greater need for city planning. City codes and ordinances will have to be revised.

Businessmen, civic groups, builders, land owners, realtors, merchants and all other citizens should take an active interest in planning and development projects.

END OF JUNK MAIL

Beginning March 31 "junk mail," which has loaded mail carriers to the aching point, will be banned in the mails. Here is a postal regulation which never should have been permitted and let's hope that it will never again be tried.

Unaddressed mail labelled only for "box holder" has been delivered by rural carriers for many years. About a year and a half ago, the Post Office Department issued a regulation allowing the sending of advertising matter through the mail addressed to the "householder" but carrying no specific names or addresses. Many took advantage of the new regulation and "junk mail" flowed into the postal delivery system.

Both householders and mailmen now will be relieved of this nuisance.

TAX INCREASES

Two more tax increase proposals now are being discussed, it has been revealed. One is the 10 per cent increase in the state income tax law and the other a 50 per cent boost in the state gasoline tax.

The proposed state income tax hike would cost the taxpayers approximately 40 million dollars and the tax on gas and diesel fuel an additional 59 million dollars a year at the current rates of fuel consumption.

Members of our state legislature will be called upon to make the decision.

AIR SAFETY

With inquiry into the ill-fated Italian airliner crash at Idlewild field far from complete, no one can fairly comment on specific causes.

But one thing seems possible: There would have been less likelihood of this happening if this field, like many others, did not have to "stack" planes in tier upon tier of air space when the weather gets thick.

Partly this is just a matter of heavy traffic. But mostly it seems to be a matter of insufficient or inadequate technical devices for either bringing planes through murky weather or keeping them fanned out farther from crowded airports.

In this case, a plane piloted by a skilled Italian veteran of the airline had crossed the Atlantic, a matter usually of at least 16 hours westbound, had set down at Boston to discharge passengers, and then had to circle Idelwild for two solid hours waiting its turn to come in.

When that moment came, for some reason the pilot had difficulty making a successful pass at the field. He tried three times without luck. On the fourth, he came in too low, was advised to pull up, but struck a pier before he could.

With the risks thus multiplied, we are fortunate this sort of thing does not happen much more frequently.

Despite the fashionable talk about coexistence in Washington, the two parties always start to campaign for the next election right after the votes from the last have been counted. How nice it would be to have a law against destructive politicking except at specified intervals every two years.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A HUMANIST'S SERVICE

Corliss Lamont, whose troubles upon this earth seem manifold despite his good fortune of having chosen a successful and wealthy father to sire him, continues to battle a mystical and mysterious God whose ways are beyond his faith and imagination. In pursuit of such a struggle with the Everlasting, Corliss has come up with "A Humanist Funeral Service," which seems a queer way of starting a new religious worship. One would imagine that all things start with birth; for Corliss Lamont, apparently, they start with death.

In the foreword to his Funeral Service, he says:

"There has long been a widely felt need for a funeral service centering around a non-supernatural, Humanist philosophy of existense. The Humanist view, stemming from some of the greatest thinkers in history, rejects the idea of personal immortality and interprets death as the final end of the individual conscious personality. The philosophy or religion of Humanism sets up the happiness and progress of mankind on this earth as the supreme goal of human endeavor."

It is actually a beautiful frame for a departure from this earth but it excludes everything that is even remotely related to the religions that are traditional among us, except a few excerpts from the Epistle of Paul. Surely no one can object to starting a man to the afterplace of his non-being (Lamont does not tolerate a hereafter, a Heaven or a Hell, for that would be unscientific) with the first third of the Second Movement of Beethoven's Seventh Symphony. Nevertheless, it does seem to be that the 23rd Psalm, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," comes closer to the heart of a mourner than a few lines from Ben Jonson's "A Pindaric Ode" or William Cullen Bryant's "Thanatopsis," as beautiful as both are.

It is not only a matter of taste but of depth of emotion; it is not only a matter of cold thought but of warming feeling. What sems to be so stirring in this funeral service is not its contents but that it should be done at all. The atheist or agnostic who takes literally the "scientific" dictum of dust thou art, to dust returneth, that a man is nothing more than a collection of molecules in a special form, a mammal who stands upright and talks his head off, is driven by the emptiness of his soul to turn to religious worship and rejecting the tried expressions of religious fervor among his own kind, turns everywhere for similar religious expression wherever he can find it.

How simple it is, in a cremation commitment, to give the soul of man to God for His mercy! However, Corliss Lamont, whose mind is tortured between the frigid materialism of Karl Marx and the sentimental Humanism of George Santayana, rejects the Psalms but accepts and puts into his service this little slice of Sir Rabindranath Tagore:

"O fire, my brother, I sing victory to you.
You are the bright red image of fearful freedom.
You swing your arms in the sky, you sweep your impetuous fingers
Across the harp-string, your dance music is beautiful; . . .
My body will be one with you, my heart will be caught in the
Whirls of your frenzy, and the burning heat that was my Life will flash up and mingle itself in your flame."

Compare that exuberation at death with the comforting 68th Psalm:

". . . When ye lie among the sheepfolds,
The wings of the dove are covered with silver,
And her pinions with the shimmer of gold . . ."

And when one is finished with Lamont's services for the dead, what actually has happened to Corliss Lamont is that try as he will to run from God, what he has only succeeded in doing is to return to God. Were it not so, why does he bother to bury his friends with music and poetry and prayer (which he calls meditation)? Why does he not cast the remains of his Humanists on the dustpile and have his molecules carted away to the sea to sink in the ooze of centuries as forgotten as the flies of a Summer day? Somehow the Humanist sees the Heaven and tries to reach it by song, as do we all in our moments of sadness and despair, when we, gazing into the blaze of a setting sun, exult in the glories of God.

That Body of Yours

MENTALLY RETARDED CHILDREN

"Four million Americans, a million of them children, have minds that stopped growing before the ages of eleven. Although three-quarters of these mentally retarded could be trained to take a small but rewarding place in society, most of them vegetate idly at home or spend their lives unproductively in impersonal institutions, sometimes in insane asylums."

I am quoting the above from a News Release from Life Magazine, which asks why the million U.S. children who are mentally retarded have been so tragically neglected. It is pointed out that in the past parents have felt a needless shame at having a retarded child but that now, fortunately, a new freedom to speak frankly about their unfortunate children today is producing a new point of view which is encouraging to research in the problem which, up to now, has had very little work done on it.

Because of this changing viewpoint, Life magazine ran a two-part series, using real names and cases, to describe the affliction which burdens a million American homes and to examine ways by which the burden can be lightened.

One key to the solution has been found in Nassau county, N.Y., where, to care for the county's 2,500 mentally handicapped, the 775-member branch of the National Association for Retarded Children is putting into operation the most comprehensive plan yet devised. The plan centers around the child and his parents, together with the family doctor and an assigned foster parent to supervise the child's progress and be responsible for him in case the parents die.

Stemming from these key figures are three main branches: social, medical and educational. The social services offer counselors, case workers, and a lawyer to advise parents. The medical services consist of a clinic for diagnosis and treatment, staffed with doctors and consultant specialists. A recreation leader and scoutmaster are added to the educational services of regular teachers; special speech treatment; religious and vocation instruction are also provided. As many of these children will be able to become self-supporting after they have learned a manual skill, a committee of personnel directors from local industries obtains placement for them in a sheltered workshop. The plan is controlled by a salaried executive director, appointed by a board of directors, most of whom are parents of retarded children.

Already parents all over the country have set up clinics and organized sheltered workshops where their children can learn simple skills to make them self-sufficient. They have prodded their states into providing special public school classes. "Yet no single family or single institution can fully solve the problem of retarded children. It is a problem for the whole community." And a wonderful work it is.

"... And Away We Go!"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Signs now indicate that the Russians may be abandoning "Peaceful Coexistence."

For the past several years this has been the theme song of the Communist slumber-hour propaganda. Its commercials have been intended to lull the non-Communist countries into a false sense of security by lessening the tension.

But now there is an apparent shift in the Moscow line. Communist spokesmen seem to be tightening the tension.

There is a note of violence in current Communist statements in Europe as well as in Asia. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles declared after his return from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council meeting in Paris.

It may well be a shift from the cooing dove of peace to a more threatening show of force, the secretary observed to his press conference, after reading a prepared statement on the results of the Paris NATO Council session.

SECRETARY DULLES does not believe that this shift in Communist tactics makes any difference or means any change in the ultimate Soviet objective of world conquest.

He was asked what the effect would be if Soviet Russia should carry out its new threats to break the 20-year alliance with France and a similar treaty with Great Britain for mutual aid against a new German aggression.

For answer the secretary recalled a long series of ineffective threats made by Russia over the past 10 years in its effort to prevent a build-up of western strength.

First were the Soviet threats against the western European countries to prevent them from joining the Marshall Plan.

This was followed by a similar attempt to prevent these countries from ratifying the North Atlantic Treaty.

When Turkey and Greece joined NATO, there was another Soviet bluff to prevent this further extension of the western mutual defense alliance.

WHEN THE United States, Britain and France proposed to create the new Federal Republic of Germany out of their three zones of occupation, the Russians tried to prevent it. Their threat then was that this act would make impossible the ultimate unification of eastern Germany with the west. This was a bluff to stop West Germany's acceptance of independent status, but it failed to accomplish the Russian aim.

When the Japanese peace treaty was signed, Russia refused to accept it. The Communists said that since this treaty violated the armistice agreement, they would be free to resume hostilities against Japan. Of course the Russians haven't taken this step at all. Instead, they are now trying to establish more normal diplomatic and trade relations with the Japanese.

The same thing happened with respect to Yugoslavia. When Tito broke loose from the Communist bloc, the Soviet Union denounced its treaty of friendship with Yugoslavia. But today Moscow is trying its hardest to woo Yugoslavia back into the Communist orbit.

RUSSIAN PRESSURE tactics are now being employed against the western European nations who are on the verge of ratifying the Paris agreements to rearm western Germany. They are being berated in diplomatic notes for refusing to attend a Moscow-inspired, counter European security conference.

But having heard the Russian "Wolf!" cry so often, the western European countries are no longer frightened by it. This is not taken to mean that western Europe can let down its guard.

As made evident by action taken at the NATO council meeting in Paris, the western European governments now seem convinced that the best way to meet Soviet threats is to maintain their own defensive strength. By this they can resist any Communist external pressures or internal subversion.

Secretary Dulles points out that the Russians have not thus far attempted to overthrow any weaker nation by armed intervention if this use of force revealed the Moscow government to be anything but the benevolent, peace-loving nation it professes to be.

The Russians are not above concealing their own aggressive ambitions by using internal revolutionary forces to overthrow non-Communist governments. Any of these countries strong enough to prevent internal uprisings should be able to resist the external pressures of the changed Communist propaganda line.

Two-Party Harmony in Congress Is Unlikely, Despite Sentiments About Cooperation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 4—There's a lot of double-talk being heard hereabouts which is designed by some of the political spokesmen to convey the idea that in the new session of Congress everything is going to be smooth and calm between the administration and the Democrats.

But the sugar-coated words of professed amiability are merely the tactful way to camouflage the explosive weapons of political combat which are to be used the moment circumstances are most propitious.

When, for example, the Senate's Democratic leader in his public statement says his party isn't going to "oppose" the President but that there will be "differences at times" and that these will represent "convictions," this is but another way of saying that opposition will be vigorously recorded when it's good politics to do so and criticism will be soft-pedaled when it is obviously unpopular.

THAT'S THE WAY it has always been and, at this session in particular, after the rumors of a prospective "cold war" between the Republicans and the Democrats heard during the last campaign, it would be indiscreet, indeed, to announce the declaration of any such war. It's much better to let the obstruction come up with seeming spontaneity. That's good politics.

As for the Democratic caucus in the House—which, of course, wasn't held with newspaper men present—the word got out afterward that Messrs. Rayburn and McCormack of the Democratic leadership had incited a bit of warfare behind closed doors. The United Press reports both these men as having told the caucus of Democrats that they must neither "forgive nor forget" Vice President Nixon for having allegedly impugned the loyalty of Democrats in campaign speeches and that they must not "forgive or forget" President Eisenhower for having commended the vice president for a valuable role in the campaign.

The money was delivered to the receipient in the Muehlebach while Truman and his campaign party were in the hotel. There is no suggestion that Truman had anything to do with the transaction nor even that he had knowledge of it. Indeed, it is possible that the money did not actually go into the Democratic National Campaign Fund nor any other Democratic campaign fund. It might have been knocked down by the receipient or divided among a number of individuals.

Mr. Emery first heard of the transaction from a Republican national committeeman who told him that he had reported the information to a Democratic senator whom he named. At the time he received the information Emery was having troubles of his own in regard to McMath's taxes and returns so he put it on his list of unfinished business. Emery also noted that there was no crystalized issue of tax fraud or delinquency in the case of the $50,000. Therefore it was not within his narrow official purview, although fraud might have been alleged under some other law.

Mr. Emery would be willing to testify to the facts and the hearsay as he knows them before a Federal Grand Jury or a committee of either House of Congress.

Ulster county people must have made good New Year's resolutions according to James L. Rowe, Christmas Seals sale chairman. He reported today that responses to the Christmas Seals sale letters have come into headquarters of the Ulster County TB and Health Association in increasing numbers during the past few days.

Receipts so far in the campaign seem to measure up favorably to this day last year, Rowe said. There is still time to send in your Christmas Seals contributions to the Tuberculosis Association. We expect the full amount needed for the association's program to be reached before the end of the month. Especially needed this year are funds to carry on the rehabilitation program for the patients at the Ulster County TB Hospital.

Five-Alarm Blaze Damages Two Piers

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—A five-alarm fire swept through the upper floors of two Hudson river piers late yesterday, erupting a thick pall of smoke over much of lower Manhattan.

More than 100 firemen attacked the blaze from shore and from three fireboats, bringing it under control in 50 minutes. Two firefighters were hurt.

The fire broke out in the agent's office of one of the two Erie Railroad piers, which had no cargo at the time.

Twenty employes fled to safety.

The flames were confined to the upper floors of the piers and Fire Marshal Martin Scott said the basic structures apparently were not weakened.

There was no official estimate of damage but one published report put it at $200,000.

Scott said an investigation of the blaze will try to determine what made it spread so quickly.

The fire delayed Erie Railroad Ferry service for a short time, holding up some 15,000 commuters headed for New Jersey during the evening rush hours. The ferries shifted to a nearby pier, however, and were soon in operation again.

Be Careful

Those enameled frying pans with the long handles are wonderful for style in the ktichen, but be careful in using them. It's very easy to turn such a pan, full of hot food, onto yourself. Keep the handle away from the range edge.

Minimum Salary Goals Adopted by District Teachers

Adoption of the 1954 legislative goal of a state minimum salary schedule of $4,000 to $9,000, after 10 years, with $300 differentials for the fifth and sixth years of additional preparation, was voted during a recent meeting of the Teacher's Association of the Third Supervisory District of Ulster county at Ellenville High School.

The House of Delegates also went on record in favor of an adequate program of state aid for education, recommending at least $96,000,000 for this purpose.

Another resolution was passed, Mrs. Clara Lieff, president, said, to the effect that a minimum 30-minute lunch period should be allowed all teachers free of any assignment.

Mrs. Lieff also reported on plans for the 1955 zone meeting. She has been named sectional coordinator for the Poughkeepsie District comprising from 1,300 to 1,400 teachers.

Will Invite Two

United Nations, Jan. 5 (AP)—The United Nations is going to ask both President Eisenhower and former President Truman to address the 10th anniversary assembly the international organization plans to hold in San Francisco next June. Informed sources said Eisenhower would be asked to address the assembly's final session on the night of June 26, the date on which the charter was signed in San Francisco 10 years before. Truman, they added, will be asked to speak during the special week-long program, which UN officials are planning. As U. S. President at the time, he opened the 1945 founding conference.

Nelson Case, the TV announcer with the homey manner and the deep voice, is a great record fan. For a long time, though, he didn't buy any records, because he wanted to install a hi-fi system. This was done, finally, so Case went out and bought 130 LPs at once. Like most LP records, these were sold with a guarantee — they'd be exchanged within 30 days if they were defective.

But Case's hi-fi system had a few bugs — loudspeaker trouble and turntable trouble. So, when his 30-day guarantee had only ten days left. Case still hadn't had a chance to audition the records.

With a week left, the system was ready at last — and so he listened to 130 LPs, working usually until three in the morning. And he found a good many defective ones in the bunch, too.

"The current state of the theatre," says Sam Spewak, "is bad." Sam is one of our better playwrights. He and his wife, Bella, are responsible for such hits as "Boy Meets Girl" and with Cole Porter, "Kiss Me Kate." He is, as he describes himself, a "professional playwright." So his gloomy estimate of the theatre's current condition is worth hearing.

"The theatre now belongs off-Broadway and out of New York," he says. "On Broadway a production costs so much that producers won't attempt anything different. The public only wants to see things it can't get tickets for, so a play has to be a big, smash hit to be successful.

"It's a musical comedy theatre now. Oh, there's an occasional straight play that makes out, but by and large it's the musical comedy that is the money-maker."

Mrs. Ruth Heibel started something. She appeared on Dennis James' "On Your Account" (CBS-TV) and won some money, which she promptly turned over to a soldier who had once saved her from drowning. James, who knows a good stunt when he stumbles on it, located the soldier — who said he'd like the money to go to another GI, who saved his life in North Africa.

The idea, which James dubbed "chain of thanks," kept on going and is now up around ten links. Seems everybody is thankful to somebody. One of these days it'll get back to Mrs. Heibel—and where do we go from there, Dennis?

New York's autograph collectors have found a way of getting their prize signatures in wholesale lots. They've discovered that many stars live in the same big east-side apartment. The coincidence is amazing, but all of the following are tenants in the same building:

Faye Emerson and Skitch Henderson, Robert Alda, Sally Forrest, Red Buttons, Bobby Sherwood, Ted Collins, Edith Adams and Ernie Kovacs, Leland Hayward and Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants.

MODENA NEWS

Modena, Jan. 4—A service of carols and candles was held at the Modena Methodist Church on Christmas Eve, beginning at 11:30 p. m. with three church choirs participating. The singers from the Gardiner Reformed Church were the first to enter the well-filled sanctuary, which was beautifully decorated with Christmas greens, arranged by Mrs. Frank M. Coy. "The First Noel" and "Tidings of Great Joy" were rendered by the singers, emphasizing the part of the shepherds in the Christmas story. The choir of the Clintondale Methodist Church entered singing O Little Town of Bethlehem and What Child Is This, followed by Good Christian Men, Rejoice. These selections centered on the Birth of Christ, and the Three Wise Men were remembered with Star of the East. Miss Lu Smalley of Clintondale sang In Bleak Midwinter and Frank Agor of Gardiner sang All My Heart This Night Rejoices. The combined choirs sang O Come All Ye Faithful. Organists accompanying the choir members and soloists were Miss Dorothy Roosa of Clintondale, Mrs. Frank Agor of Gardiner and Miss Phyllis Winters of Modena. United Nations, Jan. 5 (AP)—The United Nations is going to ask both President Eisenhower and former President Truman to address the 10th anniversary assembly the international organization plans to hold in San Francisco next June. Informed sources said Eisenhower would be asked to address the assembly's final session on the night of June 26, the date on which the charter was signed in San Francisco 10 years before. Truman, they added, will be asked to speak during the special week-long program, which UN officials are planning. As U. S. President at the time, he opened the 1945 founding conference.

To Talk on Clinic

Dr. Herbert B. Johnson will be the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Men's Club of the Old Dutch Church on Wednesday, Jan. 12, at 6:30 p. m. His topic will be the proposed clinic for children whose reading defficiencies cause them to fall behind in school work, although they are otherwise normally bright.

Nelson Case, the TV announcer with the homey manner and the deep voice, is a great record fan. For a long time, though, he didn't buy any records, because he wanted to install a hi-fi system. This was done, finally, so Case went out and bought 130 LPs at once. Like most LP records, these were sold with a guarantee — they'd be exchanged within 30 days if they were defective.

But Case's hi-fi system had a few bugs — loudspeaker trouble and turntable trouble. So, when his 30-day guarantee had only ten days left, Case still hadn't had a chance to audition the records.

With a week left, the system was ready at last — and so he listened to 130 LPs, working usually until three in the morning. And he found a good many defective ones in the bunch, too.

"The current state of the theatre," says Sam Spewak, "is bad." Sam is one of our better playwrights. He and his wife, Bella, are responsible for such hits as "Boy Meets Girl" and with Cole Porter, "Kiss Me Kate." He is, as he describes himself, a "professional playwright." So his gloomy estimate of the theatre's current condition is worth hearing.

"The theatre now belongs off-Broadway and out of New York," he says. "On Broadway a production costs so much that producers won't attempt anything different. The public only wants to see things it can't get tickets for, so a play has to be a big, smash hit to be successful.

"It's a musical comedy theatre now. Oh, there's an occasional straight play that makes out, but by and large it's the musical comedy that is the money-maker."

Mrs. Ruth Heibel started something. She appeared on Dennis James' "On Your Account" (CBS-TV) and won some money, which she promptly turned over to a soldier who had once saved her from drowning. James, who knows a good stunt when he stumbles on it, located the soldier — who said he'd like the money to go to another GI, who saved his life in North Africa.

The idea, which James dubbed "chain of thanks," kept on going and is now up around ten links. Seems everybody is thankful to somebody. One of these days it'll get back to Mrs. Heibel—and where do we go from there, Dennis?

New York's autograph collectors have found a way of getting their prize signatures in wholesale lots. They've discovered that many stars live in the same big east-side apartment. The coincidence is amazing, but all of the following are tenants in the same building:

Faye Emerson and Skitch Henderson, Robert Alda, Sally Forrest, Red Buttons, Bobby Sherwood, Ted Collins, Edith Adams and Ernie Kovacs, Leland Hayward and Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants.

MODENA NEWS

Modena, Jan. 4—A service of carols and candles was held at the Modena Methodist Church on Christmas Eve, beginning at 11:30 p. m. with three church choirs participating. The singers from the Gardiner Reformed Church were the first to enter the well-filled sanctuary, which was beautifully decorated with Christmas greens, arranged by Mrs. Frank M. Coy. "The First Noel" and "Tidings of Great Joy" were rendered by the singers, emphasizing the part of the shepherds in the Christmas story. The choir of the Clintondale Methodist Church entered singing O Little Town of Bethlehem and What Child Is This, followed by Good Christian Men, Rejoice. These selections centered on the Birth of Christ, and the Three Wise Men were remembered with Star of the East. Miss Lu Smalley of Clintondale sang In Bleak Midwinter and Frank Agor of Gardiner sang All My Heart This Night Rejoices. The combined choirs sang O Come All Ye Faithful. Organists accompanying the choir members and soloists were Miss Dorothy Roosa of Clintondale, Mrs. Frank Agor of Gardiner and Miss Phyllis Winters of Modena. A trumpet solo by Monte Smith, Hark the Herald Angels Sing introduced the chimes at midnight, and the procession of the Modena choir. Joining in Joy to the World, the processional, the congregation engaged in the service. Following Scripture reading, and the pastoral prayer, the Modena choir sang O Holy Night, with Jean Wells as soloist. A brief sermon and the candle service, and the singing of Silen Night ended the service. All preparations for the service and the reception at the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall following were in charge of Emmett Hyatt.

When I first started going to School No. 3 on Chambers street I thought it was the most wonderful building with its big windows, centralized heat and many rooms, but little did I ever learn of its history. Every building has a history and especially a schoolhouse but we were not there to learn that. Glancing through Picturesque Ulster on Kingston in Book No. 3 I ran across history of my first school in Kingston. According to the author of the book, "School district No. 3, Rondout's first public school was built or located on a ledge of rocks, near the edge of the bluff which overlooks the Rondout creek, about where the Hebrew Synagogue is located. (Would that have been the present Temple Emanuel?) In 1846 it was removed to the present site of the Presbyterian Church, corner of Wurts and Abeel streets which church is in such disrepair now and is the first building on the right that those entering Rondout over the bridge see.

Back in the early 1840's as history is repeating itself now a 100 years later, development of this locality called for larger schools. In those days the D and H Canal was in full swing and so were the Newark Lime and Cement quarries. Laborers from all over were coming to settle in Rondout. As always there was much heated talk on just how and where the new school should be located. Finally, the district was divided, and School District No. 3 was established, having much the same boundries as at present, wrote the author, and he further said, "The erection of a small frame building on the side of the present school structure was soon begun and completed."

A grove of trees shaded the property on the east, and a well was dug which gave bountiful supply of pure water. The first to teach in the school was Patrick Brennan and his sister. After three or four years the school was closed but in time reorganized with P. J. Flynn, James G. Lindsley, (first mayor of Kingston) and Mr. Utter as trustees.

The first principal under this team was a Mr. Corbin, well liked for his ability and prowess in athletics but when the Civil War broke out he resigned to defend the Union, and unfortunately was killed in the battle of Gettysburg. He was followed as principal of School No. 3 by Charles Hardenburgh, who in turn was succeeded by Stephen Hardy, the latter remaining until 1868. It seems that there were many bitter battles to control this district until unity became a necessity. In 1868 a brick building was built which cost $7,000 and Mr. McCabe became principal until 1887. As early as 1875, it was found that the schoolhouse, although new, was too small so arrangements were made with St. Mary's Church to hire a building known then as the Franciscan Brothers School, as a branch.

In 1894-5 a Legislature bill was passed which made it possible to build the present structure, which then cost $30,000. At the time it was known as the latest in building construction, plumbing, heating, etc., It consisted of 10 class rooms with individual cloak rooms, large halls and lavatories, steam heated and even steam heated outbuildings with modern plumbing. S. D. Coykendall, James G. Lindsley and Dr. David Kennedy, all men of independent means, and having their own prosperous business establishments saw to it that the best material, the most modern workmanship of the day went into the construction of the building. Time had shown that they judged well.

It's here today! A NEW Total Power

Esso Extra Gasoline with the...

HIGHEST OCTANE OF ALL TIME!

Every car now on the road — and even "dream cars" still on the drawing boards — will be able to deliver their absolute maximum in power and efficiency through continued use of this great team of new TOTAL POWER Esso Extra Gasoline and new Uniflo Motor Oil. And especially important at this time of the year, it's the best combination for quick cold weather starts!

...will give your car EXTRA-OCTANE PERFORMANCE!

This vastly improved new TOTAL POWER Esso Extra is the highest octane gasoline ever offered you for your car—higher by far than any other gasoline. It meets the requirements of every one of today's automobiles—regardless of compression ratio. Try a tankful today. Now more than ever the best gasoline you can buy.

How to get continuous EXTRA-OCTANE PERFORMANCE...

The continued power output of your engine depends on both your gasoline and your motor oil! Your gasoline actually supplies the power, but your motor oil must keep your engine clean enough to deliver this power. When you use ordinary motor oils, power-robbing carbon deposits build up in your engine — thus reducing the power that any gasoline can give you. Esso Standard's great new Uniflo Motor Oil has been scientifically designed to combat these carbon deposits. Used in combination with new TOTAL POWER Esso Extra Gasoline it will give you continuous EXTRA-OCTANE PERFORMANCE — mile after mile and month after month!

Two Factions Are Fighting To Control Soviets, Is Report

(Is the top about to blow off the "committee rule" that succeeded Stalin as the governing force in the Soviet Union? Two former Moscow correspondents, who regularly read and analyze the Russian press, appraise the possibilities in this article.)

By TOM WHITNEY AND WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Moscow's recent pronouncements suggest that two distinct factions in the Soviet hierarchy are struggling for supremacy. The argument may yet have to be resolved by another purge in high places.

Unmistakable references in the Soviet press to serious heresies and factionalism within the Communist party hint at a showdown.

Foreign policy seems definitely involved, particularly to the extent that it is concerned with plotting the course of world communism in the immediate future. Thus world peace—or the lack of it—may depend upon the outcome of such an internal Soviet struggle.

All signs seem to point to this sort of division:

ON ONE SIDE—The Communists of the Stalin school, devoted to the principle of dynamic communism which has produced such dangerous situations as the Berlin blockade and the Korean War.

On the other side—The Communists of more conservative and cautious leanings who believe that time is on their side and they can play the waiting game while building internally. This sort of approach led to the Korean and Indochinese truces and to a surface slackening of world tensions after Stalin's death.

The Soviet press, reflecting the views of the Communist leadership, has been going through a strange series of reversals ever since Stalin died. From a peaceful tone, it has gone over to one of belligerence on the international scene. Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's statements bristle with threats and bluster.

Yet, with confusing suddenness, the Soviet press then switches to a tone of hurt dismay that Premier Malenkov's proposal for a big power negotiation of Far Eastern tensions received so cool a reception in the west.

ALL THIS is accompanied by increasing prominence for the first secretary of the central committee of the Communist party, Nikita Khrushchev. His name is appearing in authoritative statements with rising frequency and importance.

By Leninist definition, Soviet foreign policy simply is an extension of domestic policy all keyed to the ultimate goal of a world dominated by Soviet communism. Thus twists in Soviet foreign policy can reflect indecision and even disputes inside the Kremlin walls.

FOR THE FIRST time since before Stalin's death, the Soviet press refers to the blood purges of the late dictator and praises the methods by which he maintained the "steel unity" of the party. Articles in important journals on the 75th anniversary of Stalin's birth are dotted with such references. Pravda, official Communist newspaper, carried a six-column editorial Dec. 21, by an outstanding party propagandist, which twice referred to Stalin's service in ridding the party of heretics. Twice he mentioned "Trotskyists." He also belabored "right capitulationists," "right opportunists," "bourgeois nationalists" and other "enemies of the people."

The last time that sort of thing occurred in the Soviet press was just after the notorious "doctors' plot" of January, 1953, when doctors were accused of plotting the deaths of Soviet leaders. Those denunciations of "Trotskyists" and other public enemies signaled an impending purge which did not come off because Stalin died in March, 1953.

ORDINARILY, the Soviet press does not dwell on the history of the great Stalin blood purges. The party seems quite conscious that the Soviet public—particularly the intellectual class—hates the very thought of what happened in the mid-1930s. The blood purge idea is trotted out at moments when the party considers it vitally necessary, possibly to justify a political need to resort once again to the old party remedy for heresies: Terror.

Mystery Bullet

Des Moines (AP)—A rifle bullet struck—but did not penetrate—a window at the home of Ken Johnson here. Mystified, Johnson reported to police and there was a newspaper story. Several days later Johnson found an envelope in his door. The newspaper article was attached and typed on the envelope were the words: "We are very sorry." Inside the envelope was $15.

Russia Renews Plane Dispute

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—Russia was disclosed today to have renewed its long-standing dispute with the United States over blame for three Far Eastern incidents involving planes of the two countries.

Informed officials said Soviet notes delivered to the U. S. embassy at Moscow on New Year's Day reaffirmed the Russian viewpoint on these incidents:

1. The shooting down by Soviet aircraft on July 29, 1953, of an American RB50 plane over the Sea of Japan, with the loss of 15 crew members.

2. The shooting down two days earlier of a Russian IL12 airplane, with nine aboard, by a U. S. air force fighter plane on a combat mission in Korea. At the time, this country expressed regret over loss of the Russian airmen, but said the Soviet plane had no business being where it was.

3. The shooting down of a U. S. air force plane, with the loss of its eight-man crew, by Soviet fighters off northern Japan on Oct. 7, 1952.

These incidents have been the subject of a continuing crossfire of American and Soviet diplomatic correspondence.

Each government blames the other.

Accused Officer Faces Check

Buffalo, Jan. 5 (AP)—A Buffalo police lieutenant accused of holding up two men was hospitalized today for a mental and physical checkup.

The officer, Lt. Daniel C. Keane, 47, was charged with first degree robbery yesterday and immediately suspended from the force.

Remmie Chew, 26, and Albert Waltoen, 41, accused Keane of robbing them of $15 each. Keane was off duty at the time of incident.

CHEW TOLD police Keane approached him in a drug store and told him to telephone the police station to "say an officer is in trouble."

Chew said he replied: "Step aside man. It looks like you have been drinking too much."

Then, according to Chew's statement, Keane pulled a pistol and snatched $15 from Chew. Waltoen and Chew said the policeman followed them outside where he once more pulled his gun and this time took $15 from Waltoen.

DETECTIVE Chief John Golombeck said when he and other officers answered a holdup call, they found Keane in a nearby tavern.

Later last night, Assistant Detective Chief Walter E. Szczepanski ordered Keane hospitalized under guard for a physical and mental checkup.

Union Is Voting On New Contract

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Union longshoremen in the port of New York vote today on acceptance or rejection of a two-year contract with the employers.

Twenty-six polling places were set up for 25,000-odd New York and New Jersey members of 34 locals of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.).

Voting hours were 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. Soon after the polls close, the ballots will be counted at local union headquarters in the port.

Among other things, the proposed contract provides a package increase of 17 cents an hour, a union shop and a no-strike, no-work-stoppage, no lockout clause. Current pay of the dock workers averages $2.35 an hour.

Some clauses of the proposed contract have been revised since the longshoremen rejected it in a vote Dec. 10. Much of the opposition at that time centered on the no-strike pledge.

The contract terms were worked out by the union's wage scale committee and representatives of the New York Shipping Assn., which represents 170 shipping and stevedoring companies.

Lockup Mixup

Bastrop, La. (AP)—Deputies Sheriff Clifton Beasley and Doyle Hindmon know now what its like to be on the inside, looking out. They unlocked the padlock at the jail entrance and went to pick up two prisoners being transferred to the Angola state penitentiary. While they were inside, a road employe came to get the prisoners going to work in the road gang. He dutifully locked all doors. That left the deputies locked in and the padlock could only be opened from the outside. Beasley and Hindmon finally attracted someone from the road crew, tossed their keys to him and persuaded him to let them out. "It wasn't too bad," explained Beasley. "At least I knew I would be free again in a few minutes."

Carver Day Proclaimed

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Today is George Washington Carver Day in New York state, by proclamation of Gov. Harriman. The governor called upon New Yorkers to "join in paying tribute" to the memory of Carver, the Negro scientist, who died on Jan. 5, 1943.

THESE YOUNGSTERS are enjoying a special holiday party at the Yacht Club on Abeel street promoted by the Kingston Boat Club, which furnished gifts and refreshments for children of the Seventh and 13th wards. Music was provided by the Yachtsmen and movies by the Kingston Recreation Department. Approximately 230 little guests were present, the club reported.

Scary Trip

Tariffville, Conn. (AP)—Alan Lee Bolin Sr., gasped when he saw his car leave the curb where he'd parked it with his five-year-old son, Alan, in the front seat. The car rolled downgrade, zig-zagging from one side to the other, but missing parked cars along the way. At the foot of the grade, it swerved into a parking space and halted. Racing to it, Bolin found his son behind the wheel. "I'm scared, Daddy," said the youngster. "Me too," said Bolin as he slid into the driver's seat.

Violent Homecoming

Fort Worth, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Mamie Hutto, 35, went to the hospital for slight injuries when her husband came home with a bang. A truck knocked his automobile into the living room as he started to turn into the driveway.

Revised Tax Plan Explained to Lions

The revised income tax provisions of law as they affect local business and professional men were explained by Thomas H. Dendy, CPA, of the accounting firm of Dendy, Kane and Pattison, at the regular luncheon meeting of the Lions Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Tuesday.

Dendy also reviewed the history of taxation, and told of the various attempts at levying tax on incomes in this country, including a temporary measure during the Civil War.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Their eldest daughter, 7-year-old Mary Swan, dropped her three little sisters and one brother from a second floor window and then lowered herself to safety.

The parents were directed to show cause in children's court why they should not be "dealt with according to law in leaving their children from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m. on Jan. 3, 1955."

Mr. and Mrs. Swan said they had asked a neighbor to "keep an eye" on their house while they drove to Union City.

GOP Is Asked To Join in Effort To Develop Power

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today urged the heavily Republican legislature to join his fledgling Democratic administration in a "unified, determined effort" for state development of Niagara river power.

Harriman told the lawmakers in a message opening their 1955 session that he considered it "essential and imperative" that the state power authority be authorized to do the job.

"Five private utility companies are seeking by federal legislation to seize the state's water power," he declared. "I cannot emphasize too strongly the importance of a unified, determined effort to persuade Congress to reject (their) plan...."

HARRIMAN POINTED out that, "under the power authority act all contracts for the sale of power must be submitted to the governor for his approval."

The new governor also pledged his administration to speed up the Niagara Frontier Park and Parkway program, which, he said, had been "largely held back by private power interests" since it was established more than 30 years ago.

Harriman described the struggle for Niagara power development rights as "a major battle." He asked for a joint Senate-Assembly resolution supporting his stand.

"What is essential and imperative," he said, "is that Congress enable the State Power Authority to develop the power at the Niagara for the benefit of the consumers of our state and not for the benefit of the five utility companies."

Woman Found Dead in Queens

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—A devoutedly religious woman, one arm crippled by polio, was found strangled today in a rear yard in Queens.

A blue silk scarf had been tied around the neck of Margaret Grob, 40, of 109-28 133rd St., South Ozone Park, her clothing disarranged.

Police said Miss Grob, an employe of the New York Tuberculosis & Health Assn. sponsors of Christmas Seals, was killed last night.

Four doors from Miss Grobe's home, Michael O'Shaughnessy, of 109-18 133rd St., South Ozone Park, Queens, was drinking coffee about 8:30 a. m. when he looked out the window and noticed the body lying between two garages.

HE CALLED to his married son, Edward, who notified police. The victim's dress had been pulled up to her neck and an overcoat had been thrown over her body.

Miss Grob lived with her brother, George Grob, an instructor at St. Michael's Catholic High School in Manhattan.

Police notified him at the school. He returned to South Ozone Park and identified the body. He was reported near collapse at the tragedy.

ALSO HELPING in the identification was the Rev. William Gannon, assistant pastor of St. Theresa's Church, where Miss Grob was a regular attendant.

Neighbors described Miss Grob, small, slight and blonde, as devoutly religious. She never married. She worked for eight years in the Queensboro office of the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. and transferred to the Manhattan office several months ago.

Trial Is Postponed

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Trial of three Bronx women accused of conspiracy to kill the husband of one of them was postponed today until Jan. 12. Mrs. Patricia Ricco, 30, Media Rainey, 25, and Miss Rainey's sister, Mrs. Ann Sabella, 27, are charged with conspiring to kill Mrs. Ricco's husband, James, 40, in a plot to collect $3,000 life insurance plus additional sums from a damage suit. A taxicab driver was to crush Ricco against an elevated pillar with his cab, it is charged.

Buglers to Rehearse

The bugle section of the Port Ewen Drum Corps will rehearse tonight at the Town of Esopus Auditorium. The regular monthly meeting of the corps will be held Thursday night at St. Leo's Hall.

U. S. Demands

activity. Some officials conceded the boost in margin requirements might be taken by many investors as indicating the government thought the market would continue to advance.

Harold L. Bache, senior partner in the big investment banking firm of Bache and Co., commented in New York that the move shows the government is "taking steps to make sure that nothing in the way of excessive market movements will develop to upset the prosperity the country is enjoying."

Funston, on the other hand, said in a statement issued in New York:

"The effect of the increase, of course, will be to inhibit the proper functioning of the market and the free interplay of the basic law of supply and demand."

FUNSTON SAID the action came "at a time when industry is seeking new funds to build new plants and new equipment —at a time, in other words, when an active and liquid stock market is essential to the vitality of our economy."

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange, said in another New York statement that the action was surprising. Saying he thought the purpose of margin requirements was to prevent "unhealthy use of credit" in stock trading, McCormick said the amount now being used "cannot by any stretch of the imagination be considered high or unhealthy."

The reserve board could have jacked the margin up the disappearing point — 100 per cent cash—as it did during 1946. If the action does not have the effect the board aimed at — squeezing undesirable speculation out of the market rise—it can at any time raise margins again.

Housing Boss

children had fired air rifles in the project.

Connelly said similar letters, outlining similar prohibitions, would go soon to 120 families of the Davisville project.

Whether his action of yesterday would stand appeared in doubt today. C. A. Reese, chairman of the Housing Commission to which Connelly is responsible, said the commission would consider the rules laid down by Connelly at a session set for Jan. 27.

Connelly said his directive to the tenants already had provoked an anonymous letter which told him "there is such a thing as going too far . . . remember, this is America, land of freedom, not Russia."

"The language (of the letter) is the language of a simple person, a narrow-minded person," said Connelly. "I have already forgiven him.

"By virtue of my Christian teachings, I don't fly off the handle. I try to talk with tenants in a Christian way.

"We have people who came out of hovels and squalid areas and they never knew what it was to live in a clean place.

"A lot of people don't understand their leases . . . I feel the residents of the project need someone to take care of them."

Connelly's ban on pets, to become effective Feb. 1, has drawn the fire of the Hopewell Humane Society. The society indicated it would fight the ruling at the meeting of the housing commission later this month.

Thinks His Sow Has Record Litter

Hudson, Jan. 5 (AP)—Fred Mazzacano is "almost certain" that one of his sows has given birth to 31 piglets, but he is awaiting a veterinarian's decision before claiming a record.

No one was around Sunday when the sow bore her litter. Another sow, also expecting, was in the pen with her. She waddled out a short time later.

Mazzacano said he didn't know whether the second contributed to the 31 piglets, 28 of which still were alive today. He asked a veterinarian to make certain.

Officials of the State Agriculture Department in Albany could not say whether a litter of 31 would be a record for a sow.

Bonnet Goes Home

New York, Jan 5 (AP)—Henri Bonnet, after a decade as French ambassador to the United States, sailed for home today with a final word of "bon ami" between the two nations. The retiring ambassador said that the "great number of good friends" he and his wife had made here were "symbolic of the relations between France and the United States." As the couple boarded the French liner Ile de France, a big delegation of about 100 persons, including city officials and others, showed up to wish them a fond farewell.

Produce Diverted

New Haven, Jan. 5 (AP)—Railroad cars and truckloads of produce headed for the strike-bound New York terminal were reported being diverted today to Stamford, Hartford, New Haven and other Connecticut points of distribution. Connecticut wholesalers were purchasing supplies directly from the cars and trucks, instead of buying in New York markets, a spokesman for the U. S. Department of Agriculture Market Reporting Service said.

Senator Asks Action

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today that unless something is done to boost farm income, the Republican party may face disaster in the 1956 elections. He told newsmen he plans to argue vigorously that "unless we do something to correct it, it may be disastrous not only to the country but to the Republican party."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—The stock market dipped moderately today in response to higher margin requirements ordered by the Federal Reserve.

The minimum amount of cash required in buying stocks was boosted to 60 per cent from 50 per cent.

The market opened sharply lower with losses running to around 4 points. Trading was heavy enough to force the tape to drop behind as much as three minutes in reporting actual floor transactions. Congestion lasted into the second hour.

Prices reached bottom within the first 30 minutes of trading. Then they steadied and began a rally that retraced much of the original loss.

Aircrafts were highly favored in the recovery and displayed gains running to around 2 points. Individual stocks elsewhere in the list added between 3 and 4 points on corporate developments that ignored the general market trend.

Would Remove Benson

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower is asked to remove Secretary of Agriculture Benson in a proposal prepared for introduction today in the 1955 Minnesota Legislature. The proposal is the first to reach the Senate presiding officer. The proposal is sponsored by Sen. Norman Larson of Ada. It asks that Benson be replaced by a man who will move to "correct the disparity between farm prices and the cost of things the farmer must buy.

Cardinal Asserts Help to Continue

Saigon, Viet Nam, Jan. 5 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman, referred to Vietnamese refugees today as a pitiful sight and promised that the Roman Catholic church and the United States will continue to extend them a helping hand.

The cardinal, Catholic Archbishop of New York, was cheered at the airport on his arrival from Hong Kong by 5,000 refugees from the Communist-dominated north — most of them Catholics from the Phat Diem and Bui Chu areas in the Red river delta.

SPEAKING TO the straw-hatted refugees, many of whom risked their lives in dramatic escapes by sea to freedom, the cardinal said he was touched by a sense of humility.

"I have the deepest sympathy for those who are suffering in this country," he said, referring to the 500,000 northerners who gave up their homes and families to flee Vietminh control.

He said he had seen refugees from all parts of the world and that the plight of those in Viet Nam is as bad as any elsewhere.

The cardinal stopped at Tourane, in central Viet Nam, before arriving here. He inspected refugee camps there.

"THIS PITIFUL sight was as depressing as any I have seen in other war stricken countries of the world," he said.

He described U. S. naval vessels which helped move the refugees from the north as "ships of war transformed into vessels of charity."

Strike Enters

scheduled by Yagoda for (2 p. m). today.

YESTERDAY'S SESSIONS started with the union demanding a $10 weekly wage increase for its 1,725 drivers and food handlers who move produce from rail and ship terminals to wholesale markets in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn. The employers offered a $4 increase.

Later, an employer spokesman said this offer had been raised to a $5 package increase and Charles Ullrich, president of the teamsters local, said union wage demands had been reduced to a $9 weekly increase.

THE PRESENT WAGE scale at Manhattan's Washington market is $76 a week for food handlers and $78.60 for drivers. In the Bronx and Brooklyn, wages are about $10 a week less for handlers and a few cents less for drivers.

The strike has cut off produce supplies for most of New York's independent food stores. Chain stores are not involved, since they use their own transport and storage facilities.

Some independent dealers have been bolstering their dwindling or exhausted stocks by driving to out-of-town markets for fresh produce supplies.

A wholesale merchant spokesman yesterday predicted that housewives would be paying double for their fresh vegetables and fruit if the strike continued until Friday. This was disputed by City Markets Commissioner Anthony Masciarelli.

MASCIARELLI SAID there was plenty of produce in chain stores. He added he had seen no signs of price gouging and did not expect any to develop. Retailers noted that any increase in prices could be checked by a shift to abundant supplies of canned and frozen foods.

The strike brought a Pennsylvania railroad embargo against further shipment of produce cars to New York. The railroad imposed the embargo yesterday and announced 60 carloads of perishables were backlogged in its yards at Jersey City and Kearny, N. J.

Another 70 carloads were on floats waiting to be unloaded at pier terminals in Manhattan, the railroad said.

The New York Central and Erie railroads reported similar accumulations of refrigerator cars in their yards but so far have ordered no embargo.

Carlino Is . . .

of both Houses met in the four separate caucuses last night and decided on their line-ups for the coming two years. There were no major changes.

The majority leadership of the Assembly became vacant last year when former assemblyman Lee B. Mailler of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson resigned from the post and the Legislature to become chairman of the state parole board.

THE ELECTION of Republican slates to contested offices was assured by the heavy GOP majorities of 90-60 in the Assembly and 34-24 in the Senate.

Heck, who has been speaker since 1937, was opposed for re-election by Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan of Brooklyn. Bannigan's nomination for the speakership was equal to re-election as minority leader of the Assembly.

In the Senate, Republican Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo was opposed by Francis J. Mahoney of Manhattan for the temporary presidency.

BY VIRTUE of the nominations, Walter Mahoney automatically was renamed GOP majority leader and Francis Mahoney Democratic minority leader.

Ansley Borkowski of Buffalo again was named by the Republican to be clerk of the Assembly. He was opposed by Herbert Samuel of Brooklyn, the Democratic choice.

William S. King of Old Chatham again was designated by the Republicans to be clerk of the Senate.

GOP Is Asked To Join in Effort To Develop Power

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today urged the heavily Republican legislature to join his fledgling Democratic administration in a "unified, determined effort" for state development of Niagara river power.

Harriman told the lawmakers in a message opening their 1955 session that he considered it "essential and imperative" that the state power authority be authorized to do the job.

"Five private utility companies are seeking by federal legislation to seize the state's water power," he declared. "I cannot emphasize too strongly the importance of a unified, determined effort to persuade Congress to reject (their) plan...."

HARRIMAN POINTED out that, "under the power authority act all contracts for the sale of power must be submitted to the governor for his approval."

The new governor also pledged his administration to speed up the Niagara Frontier Park and Parkway program, which, he said, had been "largely held back by private power interests" since it was established more than 30 years ago.

Harriman described the struggle for Niagara power development rights as "a major battle." He asked for a joint Senate-Assembly resolution supporting his stand.

"What is essential and imperative," he said, "is that Congress enable the State Power Authority to develop the power at the Niagara for the benefit of the consumers of our state and not for the benefit of the five utility companies."

Woman Found Dead in Queens

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—A devoutedly religious woman, one arm crippled by polio, was found strangled today in a rear yard in Queens.

A blue silk scarf had been tied around the neck of Margaret Grob, 40, of 109-28 133rd St., South Ozone Park, her clothing disarranged.

Police said Miss Grob, an employe of the New York Tuberculosis & Health Assn. sponsors of Christmas Seals, was killed last night.

Four doors from Miss Grobe's home, Michael O'Shaughnessy, of 109-18 133rd St., South Ozone Park, Queens, was drinking coffee about 8:30 a. m. when he looked out the window and noticed the body lying between two garages.

HE CALLED to his married son, Edward, who notified police. The victim's dress had been pulled up to her neck and an overcoat had been thrown over her body.

Miss Grob lived with her brother, George Grob, an instructor at St. Michael's Catholic High School in Manhattan.

Police notified him at the school. He returned to South Ozone Park and identified the body. He was reported near collapse at the tragedy.

ALSO HELPING in the identification was the Rev. William Gannon, assistant pastor of St. Theresa's Church, where Miss Grob was a regular attendant.

Neighbors described Miss Grob, small, slight and blonde, as devoutly religious. She never married. She worked for eight years in the Queensboro office of the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. and transferred to the Manhattan office several months ago.

activity. Some officials conceded the boost in margin requirements might be taken by many investors as indicating the government thought the market would continue to advance.

Harold L. Bache, senior partner in the big investment banking firm of Bache and Co., commented in New York that the move shows the government is "taking steps to make sure that nothing in the way of excessive market movements will develop to upset the prosperity the country is enjoying."

Funston, on the other hand, said in a statement issued in New York:

"The effect of the increase, of course, will be to inhibit the proper functioning of the market and the free interplay of the basic law of supply and demand."

FUNSTON SAID the action came "at a time when industry is seeking new funds to build new plants and new equipment —at a time, in other words, when an active and liquid stock market is essential to the vitality of our economy."

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange, said in another New York statement that the action was surprising. Saying he thought the purpose of margin requirements was to prevent "unhealthy use of credit" in stock trading, McCormick said the amount now being used "cannot by any stretch of the imagination be considered high or unhealthy."

The reserve board could have jacked the margin up the disappearing point — 100 per cent cash—as it did during 1946. If the action does not have the effect the board aimed at — squeezing undesirable speculation out of the market rise—it can at any time raise margins again.

Housing Boss

children had fired air rifles in the project.

Connelly said similar letters, outlining similar prohibitions, would go soon to 120 families of the Davisville project.

Whether his action of yesterday would stand appeared in doubt today. C. A. Reese, chairman of the Housing Commission to which Connelly is responsible, said the commission would consider the rules laid down by Connelly at a session set for Jan. 27.

Connelly said his directive to the tenants already had provoked an anonymous letter which told him "there is such a thing as going too far . . . remember, this is America, land of freedom, not Russia."

"The language (of the letter) is the language of a simple person, a narrow-minded person," said Connelly. "I have already forgiven him.

"By virtue of my Christian teachings, I don't fly off the handle. I try to talk with tenants in a Christian way.

"We have people who came out of hovels and squalid areas and they never knew what it was to live in a clean place.

"A lot of people don't understand their leases . . . I feel the residents of the project need someone to take care of them."

Connelly's ban on pets, to become effective Feb. 1, has drawn the fire of the Hopewell Humane Society. The society indicated it would fight the ruling at the meeting of the housing commission later this month.

Thinks His Sow Has Record Litter

Hudson, Jan. 5 (AP)—Fred Mazzacano is "almost certain" that one of his sows has given birth to 31 piglets, but he is awaiting a veterinarian's decision before claiming a record.

No one was around Sunday when the sow bore her litter. Another sow, also expecting, was in the pen with her. She waddled out a short time later.

Mazzacano said he didn't know whether the second contributed to the 31 piglets, 28 of which still were alive today. He asked a veterinarian to make certain.

Officials of the State Agriculture Department in Albany could not say whether a litter of 31 would be a record for a sow.

Bonnet Goes Home

New York, Jan 5 (AP)—Henri Bonnet, after a decade as French ambassador to the United States, sailed for home today with a final word of "bon ami" between the two nations. The retiring ambassador said that the "great number of good friends" he and his wife had made here were "symbolic of the relations between France and the United States." As the couple boarded the French liner Ile de France, a big delegation of about 100 persons, including city officials and others, showed up to wish them a fond farewell.

Produce Diverted

New Haven, Jan. 5 (AP)—Railroad cars and truckloads of produce headed for the strike-bound New York terminal were reported being diverted today to Stamford, Hartford, New Haven and other Connecticut points of distribution. Connecticut wholesalers were purchasing supplies directly from the cars and trucks, instead of buying in New York markets, a spokesman for the U. S. Department of Agriculture Market Reporting Service said.

Senator Asks Action

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today that unless something is done to boost farm income, the Republican party may face disaster in the 1956 elections. He told newsmen he plans to argue vigorously that "unless we do something to correct it, it may be disastrous not only to the country but to the Republican party."

Financial and Commercial

New, York, Jan. 5 (AP)—The stock market dipped moderately today in response to higher margin requirements ordered by the Federal Reserve.

The minimum amount of cash required in buying stocks was boosted to 60 per cent from 50 per cent.

The market opened sharply lower with losses running to around 4 points. Trading was heavy enough to force the tape to drop behind as much as three minutes in reporting actual floor transactions. Congestion lasted into the second hour.

Prices reached bottom within the first 30 minutes of trading. Then they steadied and began a rally that retraced much of the original loss.

Aircrafts were highly favored in the recovery and displayed gains running to around 2 points. Individual stocks elsewhere in the list added between 3 and 4 points on corporate developments that ignored the general market trend.

Would Remove Benson

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower is asked to remove Secretary of Agriculture Benson in a proposal prepared for introduction today in the 1955 Minnesota Legislature. The proposal is the first to reach the Senate presiding officer. The proposal is sponsored by Sen. Norman Larson of Ada. It asks that Benson be replaced by a man who will move to "correct the disparity between farm prices and the cost of things the farmer must buy.

Cardinal Asserts Help to Continue

Saigon, Viet Nam, Jan. 5 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman, referred to Vietnamese refugees today as a pitiful sight and promised that the Roman Catholic church and the United States will continue to extend them a helping hand.

The cardinal, Catholic Archbishop of New York, was cheered at the airport on his arrival from Hong Kong by 5,000 refugees from the Communist-dominated north — most of them Catholics from the Phat Diem and Bui Chu areas in the Red river delta.

SPEAKING TO the straw-hatted refugees, many of whom risked their lives in dramatic escapes by sea to freedom, the cardinal said he was touched by a sense of humility.

"I have the deepest sympathy for those who are suffering in this country," he said, referring to the 500,000 northerners who gave up their homes and families to flee Vietminh control.

He said he had seen refugees from all parts of the world and that the plight of those in Viet Nam is as bad as any elsewhere.

The cardinal stopped at Tourane, in central Viet Nam, before arriving here. He inspected refugee camps there.

"THIS PITIFUL sight was as depressing as any I have seen in other war stricken countries of the world," he said.

He described U. S. naval vessels which helped move the refugees from the north as "ships of war transformed into vessels of charity."

Strike Enters

scheduled by Yagoda for (2 p. m). today.

YESTERDAY'S SESSIONS started with the union demanding a $10 weekly wage increase for its 1,725 drivers and food handlers who move produce from rail and ship terminals to wholesale markets in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn. The employers offered a $4 increase.

Later, an employer spokesman said this offer had been raised to a $5 package increase and Charles Ullrich, president of the teamsters local, said union wage demands had been reduced to a $9 weekly increase.

THE PRESENT WAGE scale at Manhattan's Washington market is $76 a week for food handlers and $78.60 for drivers. In the Bronx and Brooklyn, wages are about $10 a week less for handlers and a few cents less for drivers.

The strike has cut off produce supplies for most of New York's independent food stores. Chain stores are not involved, since they use their own transport and storage facilities.

Some independent dealers have been bolstering their dwindling or exhausted stocks by driving to out-of-town markets for fresh produce supplies.

A wholesale merchant spokesman yesterday predicted that housewives would be paying double for their fresh vegetables and fruit if the strike continued until Friday. This was disputed by City Markets Commissioner Anthony Masciarelli.

MASCIARELLI SAID there was plenty of produce in chain stores. He added he had seen no signs of price gouging and did not expect any to develop. Retailers noted that any increase in prices could be checked by a shift to abundant supplies of canned and frozen foods.

The strike brought a Pennsylvania railroad embargo against further shipment of produce cars to New York. The railroad imposed the embargo yesterday and announced 60 carloads of perishables were backlogged in its yards at Jersey City and Kearny, N. J.

Another 70 carloads were on floats waiting to be unloaded at pier terminals in Manhattan, the railroad said.

The New York Central and Erie railroads reported similar accumulations of refrigerator cars in their yards but so far have ordered no embargo.

Carlino Is . . .

of both Houses met in the four separate caucuses last night and decided on their line-ups for the coming two years. There were no major changes.

The majority leadership of the Assembly became vacant last year when former assemblyman Lee B. Mailler of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson resigned from the post and the Legislature to become chairman of the state parole board.

THE ELECTION of Republican slates to contested offices was assured by the heavy GOP majorities of 90-60 in the Assembly and 34-24 in the Senate.

Heck, who has been speaker since 1937, was opposed for re-election by Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan of Brooklyn. Bannigan's nomination for the speakership was equal to re-election as minority leader of the Assembly.

In the Senate, Republican Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo was opposed by Francis J. Mahoney of Manhattan for the temporary presidency.

BY VIRTUE of the nominations, Walter Mahoney automatically was renamed GOP majority leader and Francis Mahoney Democratic minority leader.

Ansley Borkowski of Buffalo again was named by the Republican to be clerk of the Assembly. He was opposed by Herbert Samuel of Brooklyn, the Democratic choice.

William S. King of Old Chatham again was designated by the Republicans to be clerk of the Senate.

Today's hand may serve as an example of how not to bid and play. East shouldn't have doubled four hearts; and South should have made his contract instead of going down.

West opened the six of clubs, following the practice that is finding more and more favor among experts of leading the lowest card from a three-card suit instead of the "top of nothing" lead that is still favored by some experts.

Just for the record, I should add, I favor leading the lowest card in this situation when you have a good agile-minded partner.

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the ace of clubs, and East played the four. South discarded a diamond and came to the conclusion that East had doubled on all five of the missing trump together with some side strength. Since East had shown no enthusiasm for the clubs, South assumed that East's side strength was probably the ace of diamonds.

Acting on this reasoning, declarer led a diamond from the dummy at the second trick. The result was most unfortunate for poor South.

When South put up the king of diamonds, West cashed his three high diamonds, allowing East to discard a spade. This discard doomed South.

West now continued with a second club, and South ruffed. Declarer cashed the ace of spades and tried to ruff a spade in dummy with the eight of hearts, but it was too late. East overruffed with the ten of hearts and returned a trump. South struggled and squirmed, but he was now sure to lose another spade trick, thus suffering a penalty of 500 points.

The contract was unbeatable if South hadn't gone after the diamonds. The winning line of play is to ruff a club at the second trick, cash the ace of spades, and ruff a spade safely with the eight of hearts.

The cross-ruff is then continued, since South can easily ruff clubs in his own hand and spades with dummy's high trumps. South thus makes his eight trumps separately and takes the two black aces to bring in a total of 10 tricks.

AMERICAN MENU

Cook Spareribs in Fryer With the Dome Cover On

SPARERIBS AND SAUERKRAUT taste wonderful after the fancy eating of the holiday season.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

After the fancy eating of the holiday season, a good meal of spareribs and sauerkraut will taste awfully good. We cook ours in a stainless steel fryer with aluminum-clad bottom and tight fitting dome cover. This allows simmering over very low heat. Incidentally the cover keeps the kitchen free of heat and food odors.

Here are two versions, French and German. Take your choice and enjoy a wonderful meal.

Spareribs With Sauerkraut—French and German Style

(Serves 4-6)

Three pounds spareribs, cut in serving pieces, 2 tablespoons fat, if necessary; 2 pounds (1 quart) sauerkraut (or 1 No. 2½ can), ¾ cup apple juice, ½ cup tomato juice, 2 medium apples, peeled, cored and shredded; chopped parsley.

French Style

2 tablespoons celery seeds
2 tablespoons seedless raisins
½ teaspoon sugar

German Style

2 tablespoons caraway seeds
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika

In preheated 10½-inch fry pan saute spareribs over medium heat until brown on both sides. Add fat only if ribs are lean. Blend sauerkraut with juices, apples and seasonings. Cover spareribs with kraut.

Put dome cover on and simmer over low heat for ½ hour. Turn ribs, cover and simmer for another ¾ hour or until ribs are tender. Sprinkle with parsley before serving. Serve with jacket potatoes.

Without the versatile dome cover, the large stainless steel fry pan has countless uses in the modern kitchen. Here's a suggestion for a quick supper: panfry precooked ham slice (about ¾-inch thick) in butter or fat over low heat, turning once. Peel 1 large green banana, cut in half crosswise, and fry for 3 to 4 minutes until golden brown, adding more butter to pan if necessary.

Before serving, garnish with (canned) pimento strips; and—to make life even easier—serve in the attractively shining stainless steel pan, to keep foods warm, and dishwashing chores at an absolute minimum.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Spareribs and sauerkraut, mashed potatoes, parsley carrots, rye bread, butter or margarine, peach turnovers with foamy sauce, coffee, tea, milk.

Magic Needs Control

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Water nymphs—as anyone with a book on Greek mythology in hand should know — should be appeased—not badgered. Bother a water nymph and you may be in for some bad luck. With these facts in mind, the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts decided to move its water nymph statue from the entrance and let it guard a lesser fountain inside the main building. Adult art devotees, it seems, were regularly appeasing the nymph and courting good fortune by tossing coins into the fountain. But small boys were regularly risking her wrath by fishing out the coins before the museum could get around to it.

A pot luck supper and New Year's Eve party was held at the Tillson firehall Friday, Dec. 31. Following the supper, dancing was enjoyed and games played. Several families attended.

The regular monthly meeting of Tillson Volunteer Fire Company, Inc., is scheduled Tuesday evening, Jan. 11, at 8 o'clock in the Tillson firehall.

A/3C Gerald Avery, stationed at Keesler Air Force Base in Mississippi, spent the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Avery. He also met his brother, A/2C Lawrence Avery, who is stationed at Suffolk Air Force Base, Westhampton, L. I.

AMERICAN MENU

Cook Spareribs in Fryer With the Dome Cover On

SPARERIBS AND SAUERKRAUT taste wonderful after the fancy eating of the holiday season.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

After the fancy eating of the holiday season, a good meal of spareribs and sauerkraut will taste awfully good. We cook ours in a stainless steel fryer with aluminum-clad bottom and tight fitting dome cover. This allows simmering over very low heat. Incidentally the cover keeps the kitchen free of heat and food odors.

Here are two versions, French and German. Take your choice and enjoy a wonderful meal.

Spareribs With Sauerkraut—French and German Style
(Serves 4-6)

Three pounds spareribs, cut in serving pieces, 2 tablespoons fat, if necessary; 2 pounds (1 quart) sauerkraut (or 1 No. 2½ can), ¾ cup apple juice, ½ cup tomato juice, 2 medium apples, peeled, cored and shredded; chopped parsley.

French Style

2 tablespoons celery seeds
2 tablespoons seedless raisins
½ teaspoon sugar

German Style

2 tablespoons caraway seeds
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika

In preheated 10½-inch fry pan saute spareribs over medium heat until brown on both sides. Add fat only if ribs are lean. Blend sauerkraut with juices, apples and seasonings. Cover spareribs with kraut.

Put dome cover on and simmer over low heat for ½ hour. Turn ribs, cover and simmer for another ¾ hour or until ribs are tender. Sprinkle with parsley before serving. Serve with jacket potatoes.

Without the versatile dome cover, the large stainless steel fry pan has countless uses in the modern kitchen. Here's a suggestion for a quick supper: panfry precooked ham slice (about ¾-inch thick) in butter or fat over low heat, turning once. Peel 1 large green banana, cut in half crosswise, and fry for 3 to 4 minutes until golden brown, adding more butter to pan if necessary.

Before serving, garnish with (canned) pimento strips; and—to make life even easier—serve in the attractively shining stainless steel pan, to keep foods warm, and dishwashing chores at an absolute minimum.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Spareribs and sauerkraut, mashed potatoes, parsley carrots, rye bread, butter or margarine, peach turnovers with foamy sauce, coffee, tea, milk.

Magic Needs Control

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Water nymphs—as anyone with a book on Greek mythology in hand should know — should be appeased—not badgered. Bother a water nymph and you may be in for some bad luck. With these facts in mind, the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts decided to move its water nymph statue from the entrance and let it guard a lesser fountain inside the main building. Adult art devotees, it seems, were regularly appeasing the nymph and courting good fortune by tossing coins into the fountain. But small boys were regularly risking her wrath by fishing out the coins before the museum could get around to it.

Dutch Treat?

Grand Rapids, Mich. (AP)—Michigan's second city and the home of many Dutchmen, Grand Rapids has been offered an authentic Dutch windmill for $290, plus transportation costs from the Netherlands. Now Mayor George Welch, who wanted the windmill for a city park, is looking for an inexpensive—or free—method of dismantling one and transporting it to Grand Rapids.

PERSONALITIES IN THE OFFICE

A young woman writes me as follows: "Recently I complimented my employer on his new suit. A very good friend of mine overheard this comment and said that it was in very bad taste—especially in a business office. (Our office is a very informal one.) I express myself only when I am sincere about something and I feel that if a person does his utmost to dress and look well that a little bit of praise gives him a sense of well being and satisfaction, and I can't see how this could be bad taste. Your opinion will be appreciated."

The fact that a third person overheard your comment shows that you picked the wrong time to make it. In general, an employe does not make personal comments to her employer.

Late Staying Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: When my husband and I ask another couple in to play bridge in the evening, who should suggest that we stop the game? I have never thought it quite polite for the hostess to, and yet some people stay on into the night.

Answer: According to etiquette, a hostess may not suggest to a visitor that it is time for her (or him) to go home. But she may suggest after a reasonable time that they stop playing in order to have something to eat. Even this maneuver can fail when bridge players are insatiable, but a hostess should know which of her friends are to be invited only when she and her husband are willing to stay awake late.

Newcomer's Duty

Dear Mrs. Post: As a newcomer in this community, I would like to know what is the proper thing for me to do when older residents call on me when I am not at home and leave their cards. Do I go and see them, or must I wait for them to call again?

Answer: You must go to see each person who left a card as soon as you can.

Belgian Congo Rich in Resources, Sororis Speaker Says

Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen said that the Congo Free State, the most denounced spot on earth sixty-three years ago, is now a rich, prosperous colony in the heart of a poor continent. Mrs. Van Wagenen spoke to the meeting of Sorosis held Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Helen Turner.

On the topic, A Modern Congo Is Born, the speaker estimated that the Congo supplies the United States with over half the uranium produced in the non-Communist world.

In the Congo are schools, with Louvanium University opened just one year ago, clubs, libraries and movie houses, as well as a bank on wheels, with natives being urged by loudspeaker to save their money.

The speaker concluded that the Belgian Congo, rich in vital resource, is an outstanding argument for enlightened colonialism.

A business office manager had a hunch that certain members of his staff were leaving work early whenever he wasn't around to supervise them. Robinson Set For Comeback

Detroit, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson starts his long-awaited comeback tonight, and the magic of his name may draw more than 10,000 paying customers to Olympia Stadium.

The former middleweight champion of the world, looking lean and lithe despite his 34 years, meets Joe Rindone of Boston in a non-televised 10-rounder.

Although Robinson has been inactive for 30 months, promoter Nick Londes is optimistic about the gate.

Faulty Equipment Blamed for Rise In Grid Deaths

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Football deaths continued to rise in 1954, and in the opinion of Dr. Floyd Eastwood of Los Angeles State College the cycle of increasing fatalities in the sport will continue for the next two years.

Dr. Eastwood's 23rd annual report to the American Football Coaches Assn. last night showed 25 deaths last season—the highest total since 1949 and almost 7 per cent above the average in the 23 years the records have been kept. It was the second straight season deaths have increased in the sport.

THE REPORT, which prompted Dr. Eastwood's committee to make its strongest recommendations since undertaking the study in 1931, indicated that faulty equipment was a major factor in the deaths rather than the increased physical strain of one-platoon football.

In fact, most of last season's 25 fatalities occurred in high school football—which has retained the two-platoon system dropped by college football two seasons ago.

The report listed 19 deaths directly attributable to the sport. Most of the other six fatalities were laid to heart conditions, not originating in football play.

Pistons Widen Western Lead

(By The Associated Press)

The Fort Wayne Pistons, who never have won a National Basketball Association title, owned their widest first place margin of the season in the Western Division race today because of their ability to beat the Minneapolis Lakers.

Fort Wayne opened up a six-game lead by defeating the Lakers 93-92 last night. It was Fort Wayne's fourth victory in five games this season over the defending champions.

In the only other game, the Milwaukee Hawks downed the Rochester Royals 92-80.

Maryland Makes Bid For Atlantic Crown

Terps Rate Close To NC State Five

BY ED CORRIGAN
(The Associated Press)

Remember the days when Maryland was a pushover in the Southern Basketball Conference? Well, it wasn't so long ago—about five years. The other league schools rubbed their hands in glee when the Terps showed up.

But times have changed at College Park, and Maryland today stands as a distinct threat to win the new Atlantic Coast Conference championship. This is the Terp's fifth season under 34-year-old Bud Millikan and it could be their most successful.

CURRENTLY RANKED No. 11 in the weekly Associated Press poll, Maryland won its fifth straight game and fourth league decision last night—68-51 over South Carolina.

This Maryland team definitely has been surprising so far. Millikan lost both Gene Shue and Ralph Greco, two of his hot shots from last season, but he has come up with 6-7 sophomore Frank Fuqua, who scored 17 points against South Carolina. Junior Bob Kessler, 6-4, dropped in 25 points.

North Carolina State, Everett Case's perennial powerhouse still ranks as the favorite to win the ACC title, but Maryland might have something to say about it.

THE SOUTHWEST Conference also got down to serious business and the three games on the card went according to expectations. Texas Christian, the League favorite, whipped Arkansas 67-62 on the wings of Dick O'Neil's 38 points. TCU had to come on fast in the second half, though.

Southern Methodist, a sharp-shooting outfit which is rated right behind Texas Christian, slugged Texas 74-51. It was the first time since 1949 that SMU managed to win at Austin. Rice coasted to a 61-41 triumph over Texas A&M in the other loop contest. The Owls went the first five minutes without a field goal but made up for it later.

MISSOURI, which figures to win the Big Seven crown, got past Kansas, an old jinx, 76-65, and in the process snapped a Jayhawk streak of 33 straight home victories. The triumph was Missouri's eighth in 10 starts.

DePaul rolled to its ninth victory in 10 starts, defeating John Carroll 88-55; Columbia edged Syracuse 75-74; New York University overcame West Virginia 79-78 on Ed Kramer's free throw with 3 seconds to go; Manhattan clipped Brigham Young 78-75, Oregon won a Pacific Coast Conference clash with Washington State 67-55 and San Francisco, ranked fifth in the AP poll, drubbed St. Mary's (Calif.) 51-37. It was against one defeat.

Dick Bezemer, last season's All-DUSO at Kingston High, moved into a starting berth with Rollins College (Winter Park, Fla.) and helped the Tars whip highly favored New York University in a major basketball upset.

Bezemer, who had been flirting with a first string berth since the start of the season, scored 23 points to help topple the Violets, fresh conquerors of highly regarded Miami U.

Bill Haber is also a member of the Rollins squad and contributed two points. Rollins is pointing for a major league basketball schedule and its victory over NYU was the first real upset over a big time basketball power.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Frank Koenig keeps rolling at Siena College. He flipped 17 points as the Indians bowed to their old nemesis, LeMoyne of Syracuse. . . . Rocky Marciano spends so little time in his new home in Brockton, Mass., he hasn't even bothered to install a telephone. As The Rock was about to leave for Miami and the opening of his new restaurant, he told Murray Olderman of NEA, "I understand it's a real big place." . . . Area golfers were out in some force Christmas Day, but the links were bare on New Year's Day. Probably a combination of bowl football telecasts and other reasons. . . . New York sportswriters insist that Army and Navy are keenly interested in two or three of Fordham's abandoned gridders. . . . Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county stage their annual feedbag on Thursday (Jan. 13) at the 1776 Colonial Inn at Dwaarkill.

• Of Men and Mice:

Big Bill Spivey, the former All-American at Kentucky University, looked overweight to observers at the Harlem Globetrotter exhibition. One college graduate who saw Spivey several times during his career at Kentucky said: "He's put on 100 pounds since he left school." Under a cloud it might be added. Spivey was never directly involved in the Kentucky basketball scandals that claimed Lou Groza and Ralph Beard but he was charged with withholding vital information from the authorities. He held the all-time Kentucky scoring record of 50 points until Cliff Hagen beat it by a point last year. Whitey Crispell, the kegler, postcards from Hollywood, Fla., and mentions getting together with Marty Kellenberger at Delray Beach. . . . Wonder if they talked about bowling?

PERSONALITY ITEMS: Bob Laskowitz, former All-DUSO at Fallsburgh Central, is running wild in independent circles. . . . Can there be a more unknown champion than Terry Browne of Detroit? Who jumps barrels for his kicks and on skates, yet. . . . He's cleared 15 at a time, covering 28 feet 3 inches, or almost a couple of feet better than the track broad jump standard set by Jesse Owens. Browne defends his world title Jan. 8 at Grossingers. . . . Eddie Lanigan, shuffleboard champion at the Evergreen, was recently upset by a virtual unknown in five straight sets in a challenge match. Forunately, for Lanigan, the title was not at stake.

FOR THE UMPTEENTH TIME—There were not 2,000 people in the municipal auditorium for the Globetrotter game Sunday night. The auditorium's basketball capacity is about 1600 with standees. The largest crowd ever permitted into the Broadway arena was for a game between Frank "Pop" Morgenweck's Kingston Colonials and the Original Renaissance, world Negro basketball champions. That was in the middle 1930s.

NCAA Liberalizes Grid Substitutions

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Unless the NCAA Rules Committee vetoes the coaches there will be a more liberal substitution rule in college next fall.

It won't be any return to the two-platoon game by far, but it will make life a little easier for the coaches, especially those with small squads.

Recommendations for easing the sub rule, for strengthening the rule on "sucker" shifts, and changing the kickoff rule to make for more spectcular kicks, were made last night by the rules committee of the American Football Coaches Assn. (AFCA). The three recommendations are expected to be approved by an overwhelming margin by the coaches themselves today.

THEN IT WILL BE up to the NCAA's Rules Committee which convenes here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The NCAA group overruled the coaches two years ago when they tossed out the unlimited substitution (two platoon) rule, but it is expected to go along with the coaches this time.

The new football sub rule would allow any player who starts a quarter to reenter once during the same quarter. A player who doesn't start the quarter may not reenter. The present rule does not permit a player to return in the same quarter in which he is withdrawn except for the final four minutes of the second and fourth quarters.

THE "SUCKER" shift recommendation was directed at linemen. A note would be added to the present rule saying "once a lineman has taken his place on the line of scrimmage and assumed or simulated a three or four-point stance, thereafter there can be no movement before the start of play." But if he merely takes a two-point stance with his hands on his knees, he still may move.

To permit more "spectacular" kickoffs, a tee may be used to elevate the ball 3 inches instead of 1 inch as at present.

Siena to Play Iona Saturday

Siena College plays Iona of New Rochelle in the 13th renewal of their series Saturday at the Albany Armory.

The Indians lead in the series 7 to 5. The rivalry has produced several thrilling games, Iona taking three by one-point margins. Last year the difference was Billy Kirsch's 70-foot shot at the buzzer in Madison Square Garden.

SIX-FOOT SEVEN Wally McCarvill, who played in the local YMCA League, and Andy Disolo are the top Iona threats, each with a 15-point scoring average.

In retaliation, Siena points to four double-figure men — Tim Hill, 16.3; Frank Koenig 14.3; Dick Whyte, 12; and captain Joe Gunderman, 10. Ned McGraw and Tom Pottenburgh, whose 6-9 frame has its work cut out for it against McCarvill, will also see heavy duty.

Robinson Set For Comeback

Detroit, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson starts his long-awaited comeback tonight, and the magic of his name may draw more than 10,000 paying customers to Olympia Stadium.

The former middleweight champion of the world, looking lean and lithe despite his 34 years, meets Joe Rindone of Boston in a non-televised 10-rounder.

Although Robinson has been inactive for 30 months, promoter Nick Londes is optimistic about the gate.

Faulty Equipment Blamed for Rise In Grid Deaths

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Football deaths continued to rise in 1954, and in the opinion of Dr. Floyd Eastwood of Los Angeles State College the cycle of increasing fatalities in the sport will continue for the next two years.

Dr. Eastwood's 23rd annual report to the American Football Coaches Assn. last night showed 25 deaths last season—the highest total since 1949 and almost 7 per cent above the average in the 23 years the records have been kept. It was the second straight season deaths have increased in the sport.

THE REPORT, which prompted Dr. Eastwood's committee to make its strongest recommendations since undertaking the study in 1931, indicated that faulty equipment was a major factor in the deaths rather than the increased physical strain of one-platoon football.

In fact, most of last season's 25 fatalities occurred in high school football—which has retained the two-platoon system dropped by college football two seasons ago.

The report listed 19 deaths directly attributable to the sport. Most of the other six fatalities were laid to heart conditions, not originating in football play.

Pistons Widen Western Lead

(By The Associated Press)

The Fort Wayne Pistons, who never have won a National Basketball Association title, owned their widest first place margin of the season in the Western Division race today because of their ability to beat the Minneapolis Lakers.

Fort Wayne opened up a six-game lead by defeating the Lakers 93-92 last night. It was Fort Wayne's fourth victory in five games this season over the defending champions.

In the only other game, the Milwaukee Hawks downed the Rochester Royals 92-80.

Maryland Makes Bid For Atlantic Crown

Terps Rate Close To NC State Five

BY ED CORRIGAN
(The Associated Press)

Remember the days when Maryland was a pushover in the Southern Basketball Conference? Well, it wasn't so long ago—about five years. The other league schools rubbed their hands in glee when the Terps showed up.

But times have changed at College Park, and Maryland today stands as a distinct threat to win the new Atlantic Coast Conference championship. This is the Terp's fifth season under 34-year-old Bud Millikan and it could be their most successful.

CURRENTLY RANKED No. 11 in the weekly Associated Press poll, Maryland won its fifth straight game and fourth league decision last night—68-51 over South Carolina.

This Maryland team definitely has been surprising so far. Millikan lost both Gene Shue and Ralph Greco, two of his hot shots from last season, but he has come up with 6-7 sophomore Frank Fuqua, who scored 17 points against South Carolina. Junior Bob Kessler, 6-4, dropped in 25 points.

North Carolina State, Everett Case's perennial powerhouse still ranks as the favorite to win the ACC title, but Maryland might have something to say about it.

THE SOUTHWEST Conference also got down to serious business and the three games on the card went according to expectations. Texas Christian, the League favorite, whipped Arkansas 67-62 on the wings of Dick O'Neil's 38 points. TCU had to come on fast in the second half, though.

Southern Methodist, a sharp-shooting outfit which is rated right behind Texas Christian, slugged Texas 74-51. It was the first time since 1949 that SMU managed to win at Austin. Rice coasted to a 61-41 triumph over Texas A&M in the other loop contest. The Owls went the first five minutes without a field goal but made up for it later.

MISSOURI, which figures to win the Big Seven crown, got past Kansas, an old jinx, 76-65, and in the process snapped a Jayhawk streak of 33 straight home victories. The triumph was Missouri's eighth in 10 starts.

DePaul rolled to its ninth victory in 10 starts, defeating John Carroll 88-55; Columbia edged Syracuse 75-74; New York University overcame West Virginia 79-78 on Ed Kramer's free throw with 3 seconds to go; Manhattan clipped Brigham Young 78-75, Oregon won a Pacific Coast Conference clash with Washington State 67-55 and San Francisco, ranked fifth in the AP poll, drubbed St. Mary's (Calif.) 51-37. It was against one defeat.

Helfand Promises to Back Boxing Referees - Judges

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—The new chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission is a Brooklyn Dodger baseball fan who believes "an umpire is the best qualified and in the best position to make decisions"—and he plans to run the commission with the same philosophy.

Julie Helfand, former assistant district attorney in Brooklyn who was named Friday to replace Robert Christenberry as commission chairman, met newsmen yesterday and announced he doesn't intend to overrule his referees and judges on decisions, nor offer a new scoring system.

He accepts the fact officials may see a fight differently with split decisions as a result.

THE 52-YEAR-OLD appointee of Averell Harriman, new Democratic governor of New York, believes "my background and experience may help to improve the status of boxing."

That, he said, is one of his main aims, and to keep a further check on the state of boxing, Helfand announced the first of several expected reorganization moves with the appointment of William Dahaut, a former associate of the DA's office, as a deputy commissioner and his confidential aid.

Dahut had been the chief investigator of the Rackets Squad Bureau in Brooklyn.

Seixas-Rose Gain Finals in Doubles

Sydney, Australia, Jan. 5 (AP)—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Mervyn Rose, of Australia, reached the final of the South Australian tennis doubles championship today by beating John Hans and John Mehaffey 6-2, 6-4, 6-4 in the semifinals.

Seixas is playing with Rose because Tony Trabert, his American teammate, withdrew with a blistered hand.

The Aussie duo of Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad also withdrew.

New Schedule Forces 8 Plane Trips on AL

Chicago, Jan. 5 (AP)—Eight plane trips will be required in this year's American League baseball schedule with Kansas City as a new member.

League President Will Harridge today estimated the 1955 schedule, to be announced Jan. 17, will add between 9,000 and 10,000 miles of travel for the eight clubs over a previous average season.

HARRIDGE SAID that the shift of Baltimore into the eastern division and the switch of the A's from Philadelphia to Kansas City brought considerable travel compensation on a divisional basis.

However, travel complications between Kansas City and Detroit and Cleveland have made necessary the eight plane trips which will mark the first time a regular schedule put the league in the air.

Cleveland, Baltimore and Detroit flew last year, but as a matter of convenience and not because the schedule required it.

Vogel Says Use Of Thruway Saves

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP)—An Albany trucking executive says it costs his firm about 1½ per cent more in out-of-pocket costs to run his heavy trucks on the state thruway than over comparable miles of regular roads. But he says he expects the savings in maintenance and other long-term items will make thruway use profitable.

John Vogel, Jr., vice president of John Vogel Inc., said today that a study he had made showed his company's tractor-trailers ran about 100,000 miles between Albany and Harriman from Nov. 11 to Dec. 31.

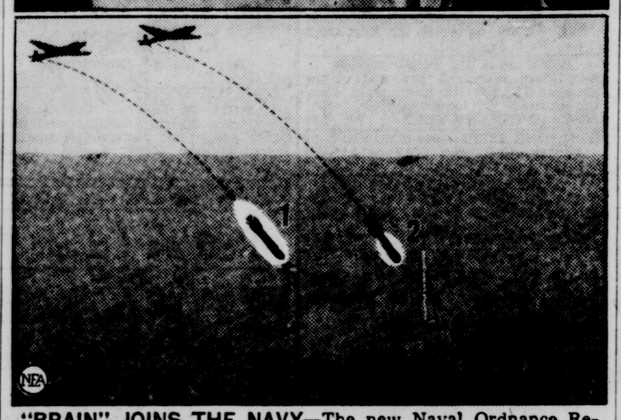

Since Nov. 11, Vogel said, the firm has run all its trips to New York city, New Jersey and Philadelphia via the thruway. The thruway route is 143.4 miles from the Albany terminal to a terminal in Jersey City, compared with 153 miles via regular highways.

VOGEL SAID he expected two important items of long-term savings would be clutch and brake maintenance. Because of the absence of traffic lights on the thruway, stops and starts are less frequent. An extra factor saving wear on the clutch is the absence of steep grades on the thruway.

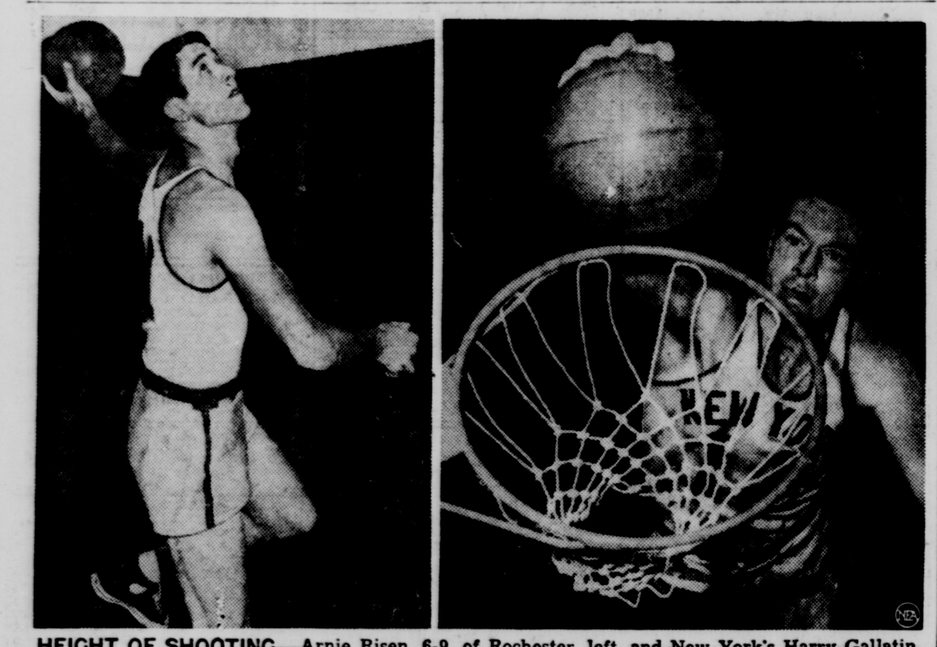

When the time comes for buying new equipment, Vogel said, he expects to be able to use a smaller tractor to pull the same load on the thruway.

It is warmer at the North Pole than the winter cold found in Siberia or Montana.

"BRAIN" JOINS THE NAVY—The new Naval Ordnance Research Calculator (top), recently built for the U. S. Navy's Bureau of Ordnance by International Business Machines Corp., is the fastest electronic computer in the world. Known as the NORC, it can add, subtract and multiply numbers as fast as it can read them—at the rate of a million digits a second. One of the jobs the NORC will do to speed the Navy's weapons program will be performing the billions of mathematical operations necessary to determine the size and shape of the air cavity that forms around an object moving through water. For example, control of missile No. 1, shown in the drawing, would be lost because its size, shape and speed create a cavity so large that fin and rubber surfaces do not touch the water. Missile No. 2 creates a smaller cavity, the steering surfaces engage the water, and a more accurate course to the target is insured.

HEIGHT OF SHOOTING—Arnie Risen, 6-9, of Rochester, left, and New York's Harry Gallatin, 6-6, have height to spare when they take shots. The National Basketball Association doesn't have many better big men than Risen, veteran Royal hook shot artist, and Gallatin, the Knickerbockers' hard-working rebounder. (NEA)

MOTORING TO CONGRESS—Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D., Ala.) right, still not recovered from wounds inflicted by Puerto Rican Nationalists in the House chamber in 1954, uses a special car to travel between the House and the Capitol. Roberts and his guest rider, Rep. Albert Rains (D., Ala.), pass Mrs. Harold Johnson of Erwin, Tenn., who pushes her son, David, in his stroller.

HOUSING—A nine-million-dollar subsidy increase for public projects; a study of eligibility limits and rentals in state projects; authorization for cities to loan up to 90 per cent of the cost of non-profit and cooperative developments; instead of 75; a "neighborhood conservation" program to check slums; and modernizing the New York city and Buffalo multiple residence laws.

RENT CONTROL — Plugging "loopholes which have been used by unscrupulous landlords to evade" the law and bringing under control some housing now exempt.

STATE EMPLOYES—A study of ways to safeguard their rights and still keep Communists out of government; equalizing pay for jobs of equal responsibility; extension of the 5-day, 40-hour week "as uniformly as possible;" full-scale in-service training programs; and study of a prepaid health insurance system.

HEALTH—Encouragement of voluntary prepaid health insurance plans; stepped up rehabilitation for the disabled; full-time public health services in all counties.

MENTAL HYGIENE — Stressing prevention and cure of mental ills, largely through local programs; using a 350-million-dollar mental hospital bond issue approved this year to build small centers in metropolitan areas; and finding a way of "reducing the ever-increasing load" of mental patients.

THE AGED — A "more vigorous" state program of finding jobs for oldsters; "more agreeable and less costly" medical care in tuberculosis sanitoria, foster homes and private homes.

BINGO—Legalizing it at once for religious, charitable and veterans groups by striking criminal penalties out of the law; following up with a constitutional amendment to make the game legal.

REAPPORTIONMENT — A constitutional amendment to "remedy the injustices" of Senate and Assembly districting and put seats in both houses on a population basis.

VOTING — A mandatory system of permanent personal registration throughout the state, and cutting the expense of checking registration lists; permitting the voters to initiate constitutional changes.

CIVIL RIGHTS—Empowering the commission against discrimination to investigate cases on its own motion and to enforce laws forbidding discrimination in public housing projects.

NEW YORK CITY — Authorizing the city to levy the full constitutional 2½ per cent tax on real estate; establishing an eight-member study commission to study the city's fiscal woes; making local taxing power permanent.

POWER — Promoting public development of more hydro-electric energy from Niagara Falls.

Harriman declared the state was "in a serious fiscal position" partly because of mandated state aid to localities and schools and because of previous commitments "that now require substantial additional expenditures."

He added: "Finally, the state government has actually been living beyond its income for several years, spending more than it has received. The day of reckoning has arrived."

The governor declared the state's capital construction fund was substantially overcommitted." As a remedy, he said he was "reluctantly issuing instructions that for the time being no new contracts for construction be entered into."

HARRIMAN DECLARED that "many services and projects which our state government should undertake and our people want must be postponed in view of our budgetary plight."

Harriman said that unemployment insurance benefits should be extended to firms with only one or more employes and that only 15 weeks of employment, instead of 20, should be needed to qualify for benefits.

He urged that the duration of disability benefits be stretched to 26 weeks, and that steps be taken to see that employers pay their "fair share" of supporting the program.

Workmen's compensation benefits, he continued, should be raised to "reflect increases in the cost of living and to maintain a realistic relationship between wages lost and benefits paid."

The governor marched into two controversial questions when he called for repeal of the Hughes-Brees law, which prescribes a merit system for employer contributions to unemployment insurance funds, and the Condon-Waslin Act, barring strikes by public employes.

Both have been bitterly attacked by the Democrats for years—and just as stoutly defended by Republicans.

HE ALSO INVITED controversy by recommending mandatory permanent personal registration and suggesting reapportionment of legislative districts. The GOP stoutly opposes PPR and its controls of the Legislature is enhanced by present districting.

However, Harriman appeared to back away from trouble in his recommendation on the problem of the uninsured motorist.

He noted that the lawmakers have turned Dewey down last year in rejecting the ex-governor's demand for a compulsory liability insurance law. Harriman suggested a review of "other methods" and enactment of "effective legislation."

On the highway bond issue, he ignored mention of a proposed tax increase of two cents a gallon on gasoline and three cents on diesel fuel to finance the proposal. The tax boost was recommended by a Dewey-appointed study commission.

THE GOVERNOR SAID he would continue efforts for a $1.25 hourly national minumum wage, and called for a joint resolution of the legislature supporting his stand. He also appealed for the support of organized labor, industry and finance.

He asked for continuation of the temporary state commission on the courts, final adoption of a county home rule amendment to the constitution and promised "further recommendations" to meet what he termed a progressively worsening mass transportation system around New York city.

The governor also called for protection of the forest preserve, reforestation of six million unproductive acres of land, and enlargement of the preserve.

He promised a special message on juvenile delinquency, said he was appointing a special aide to look after consumer interests, and pledged a review of a probe into the operation of union welfare funds.

wages of women and minors, be handed direct jurisdiction over wage standards of men.

2. Repeal of the Hughes-Brees amendment to the Unemployment Insurance Law, which gives a tax "break" to firms with stable employment records.

3. An increase from $30 to $36 a week in the maximum unemployment insurance benefits.

4. Additional unemployment benefits for dependents, allowing $4 per week for each dependent to a maximum of three.

5. Extension of unemployment insurance coverage to include employes of firms employing one or more workers.

6. Reduction of the minimum period of employment required to qualify for unemployment insurance from 20 to 15 weeks.

7. That the period of payment of benefits for off-the-job disability be extended to 20 weeks, under the same schedule as that recommended for unemployment insurance.

8. That the Department of Labor work closely with the Workmen's Compensation Board with a view toward lowering accident rates and thus reducing coverage costs.

BUSINESS and industrial groups in the state long have complained that New York's workmen's compensation costs were excessive.

Harriman also pledged to review the recent findings of the state superintendent of insurance that many union welfare and pension funds were being mismanaged.

The report of that investigation, ordered by former Gov. Dewey, recommended that legislation be enacted to give the State Insurance Department closer supervision of the funds, of which there are about 500 in the state.

Harriman recommended legislation "to increase the coverage of the Workmen's Compensation Law and to raise the scale of benefits payments so as to reflect increases in the cost of living and to maintain a realistic relationship between wages lost and benefits paid." He said there also should be a "more equitable standard of scheduled losses."

THE GOVERNOR, in his message, did not prescribe a specific scale of benefits.

Turning to civil service employes, Harriman said he would work toward three objectives "to the extent that the stringent state fiscal situation will permit." His aims, he said, were "1. To equalize pay scales for work of equal responsibiliy; 2. To extend the five-day, 40-hour week as uniformly as possible; 3. To initiate a full-scale in-service training program."

Helfand Promises to Back Boxing Referees - Judges

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—The new chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission is a Brooklyn Dodger baseball fan who believes "an umpire is the best qualified and in the best position to make decisions"—and he plans to run the commission with the same philosophy.

Julie Helfand, former assistant district attorney in Brooklyn who was named Friday to replace Robert Christenberry as commission chairman, met newsmen yesterday and announced he doesn't intend to overrule his referees and judges on decisions, nor offer a new scoring system.

He accepts the fact officials may see a fight differently with split decisions as a result.

THE 52-YEAR-OLD appointee of Averell Harriman, new Democratic governor of New York, believes "my background and experience may help to improve the status of boxing."

That, he said, is one of his main aims, and to keep a further check on the state of boxing, Helfand announced the first of several expected reorganization moves with the appointment of William Dahaut, a former associate of the DA's office, as a deputy commissioner and his confidential aid.

Dahut had been the chief investigator of the Rackets Squad Bureau in Brooklyn.

Seixas-Rose Gain Finals in Doubles

Sydney, Australia, Jan. 5 (AP)—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Mervyn Rose, of Australia, reached the final of the South Australian tennis doubles championship today by beating John Hans and John Mehaffey 6-2, 6-4, 6-4 in the semifinals.

Seixas is playing with Rose because Tony Trabert, his American teammate, withdrew with a blistered hand.

The Aussie duo of Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad also withdrew.

New Schedule Forces 8 Plane Trips on AL

Chicago, Jan. 5 (AP)—Eight plane trips will be required in this year's American League baseball schedule with Kansas City as a new member.

League President Will Harridge today estimated the 1955 schedule, to be announced Jan. 17, will add between 9,000 and 10,000 miles of travel for the eight clubs over a previous average season.

HARRIDGE SAID that the shift of Baltimore into the eastern division and the switch of the A's from Philadelphia to Kansas City brought considerable travel compensation on a divisional basis.

However, travel complications between Kansas City and Detroit and Cleveland have made necessary the eight plane trips which will mark the first time a regular schedule put the league in the air.

Cleveland, Baltimore and Detroit flew last year, but as a matter of convenience and not because the schedule required it.

Vogel Says Use Of Thruway Saves

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP)—An Albany trucking executive says it costs his firm about 1½ per cent more in out-of-pocket costs to run his heavy trucks on the state thruway than over comparable miles of regular roads. But he says he expects the savings in maintenance and other long-term items will make thruway use profitable.

John Vogel, Jr., vice president of John Vogel Inc., said today that a study he had made showed his company's tractor-trailers ran about 100,000 miles between Albany and Harriman from Nov. 11 to Dec. 31.

Since Nov. 11, Vogel said, the firm has run all its trips to New York city, New Jersey and Philadelphia via the thruway. The thruway route is 143.4 miles from the Albany terminal to a terminal in Jersey City, compared with 153 miles via regular highways.

VOGEL SAID he expected two important items of long-term savings would be clutch and brake maintenance. Because of the absence of traffic lights on the thruway, stops and starts are less frequent. An extra factor saving wear on the clutch is the absence of steep grades on the thruway.

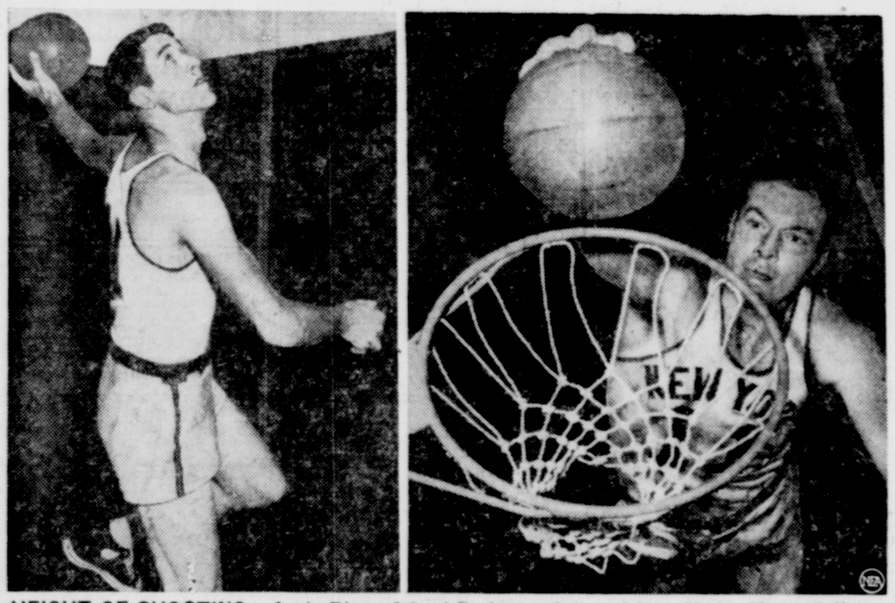

When the time comes for buying new equipment, Vogel said, he expects to be able to use a smaller tractor to pull the same load on the thruway.

It is warmer at the North Pole than the winter cold found in Siberia or Montana.

"BRAIN" JOINS THE NAVY—The new Naval Ordnance Research Calculator (top), recently built for the U. S. Navy's Bureau of Ordnance by International Business Machines Corp., is the fastest electronic computer in the world. Known as the NORC, it can add, subtract and multiply numbers as fast as it can read them—at the rate of a million digits a second. One of the jobs the NORC will do to speed the Navy's weapons program will be performing the billions of mathematical operations necessary to determine the size and shape of the air cavity that forms around an object moving through water. For example, control of missile No. 1, shown in the drawing, would be lost because its size, shape and speed create a cavity so large that fin and rubber surfaces do not touch the water. Missile No. 2 creates a smaller cavity, the steering surfaces engage the water, and a more accurate course to the target is insured.

HEIGHT OF SHOOTING—Arnie Risen, 6-9, of Rochester, left, and New York's Harry Gallatin, 6-6, have height to spare when they take shots. The National Basketball Association doesn't have many better big men than Risen, veteran Royal hook shot artist, and Gallatin, the Knickerbockers' hard-working rebounder. (NEA)

MOTORING TO CONGRESS—Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D., Ala.) right, still not recovered from wounds inflicted by Puerto Rican Nationalists in the House chamber in 1954, uses a special car to travel between the House and the Capitol. Roberts and his guest rider, Rep. Albert Rains (D., Ala.), pass Mrs. Harold Johnson of Erwin, Tenn., who pushes her son, David, in his stroller.

Harriman Bans

fense of state-federal milk regulations from any attack.

HOUSING—A nine-million-dollar subsidy increase for public projects; a study of eligibility limits and rentals in state projects; authorization for cities to loan up to 90 per cent of the cost of non-profit and cooperative developments; instead of 75; a "neighborhood conservation" program to check slums; and modernizing the New York city and Buffalo multiple residence laws.

RENT CONTROL—Plugging "loopholes which have been used by unscrupulous landlords to evade" the law and bringing under control some housing now exempt.

STATE EMPLOYES—A study of ways to safeguard their rights and still keep Communists out of government; equalizing pay for jobs of equal responsibility; extension of the 5-day, 40-hour week "as uniformly as possible;" full-scale in-service training programs; and study of a prepaid health insurance system.

HEALTH—Encouragement of voluntary prepaid health insurance plans; stepped up rehabilitation for the disabled; full-time public health services in all counties.

MENTAL HYGIENE—Stressing prevention and cure of mental ills, largely through local programs; using a 350-million-dollar mental hospital bond issue approved this year to build small centers in metropolitan areas; and finding a way of "reducing the ever-increasing load" of mental patients.

THE AGED—A "more vigorous" state program of finding jobs for oldsters; "more agreeable and less costly" medical care in tuberculosis sanitoria, foster homes and private homes.

BINGO—Legalizing it at once for religious, charitable and veterans groups by striking criminal penalties out of the law; following up with a constitutional amendment to make the game legal.

REAPPORTIONMENT—A constitutional amendment to "remedy the injustices" of Senate and Assembly districting and put seats in both houses on a population basis.

VOTING—A mandatory system of permanent personal registration throughout the state, and cutting the expense of checking registration lists; permitting the voters to initiate constitutional changes.

CIVIL RIGHTS—Empowering the commission against discrimination to investigate cases on its own motion and to enforce laws forbidding discrimination in public housing projects.

NEW YORK CITY—Authorizing the city to levy the full constitutional 2½ per cent tax on real estate; establishing an eight-member study commission to study the city's fiscal woes; making local taxing power permanent.

POWER—Promoting public development of more hydroelectric energy from Niagara Falls.

Harriman declared the state was "in a serious fiscal position" partly because of mandated state aid to localities and schools and because of previous commitments "that now require substantial additional expenditures."

He added: "Finally, the state government has actually been living beyond its income for several years, spending more than it has received. The day of reckoning has arrived."

The governor declared the state's capital construction fund was substantially overcommitted." As a remedy, he said he was "reluctantly issuing instructions that for the time being no new contracts for construction be entered into."

HARRIMAN DECLARED that "many services and projects which our state government should undertake and our people want must be postponed in view of our budgetary plight."

Harriman said that unemployment insurance benefits should be extended to firms with only one or more employes and that only 15 weeks of employment, instead of 20, should be needed to qualify for benefits.

He urged that the duration of disability benefits be stretched to 26 weeks, and that steps be taken to see that employers pay their "fair share" of supporting the program.

Workmen's compensation benefits, he continued, should be raised to "reflect increases in the cost of living and to maintain a realistic relationship between wages lost and benefits paid."

The governor marched into two controversial questions when he called for repeal of the Hughes-Brees law, which prescribes a merit system for employer contributions to unemployment insurance funds, and the Condon-Waslin Act, barring strikes by public employes.

Both have been bitterly attacked by the Democrats for years—and just as stoutly defended by Republicans.

HE ALSO INVITED controversy by recommending mandatory permanent personal registration and suggesting reapportionment of legislative districts. The GOP stoutly opposes PPR and its controls of the Legislature is enhanced by present districting.

However, Harriman appeared to back away from trouble in his recommendation on the problem of the uninsured motorist.

He noted that the lawmakers have turned Dewey down last year in rejecting the ex-governor's demand for a compulsory liability insurance law. Harriman suggested a review of "other methods" and enactment of "effective legislation."

On the highway bond issue, he ignored mention of a proposed tax increase of two cents a gallon on gasoline and three cents on diesel fuel to finance the proposal. The tax boost was recommended by a Dewey-appointed study commission.

THE GOVERNOR SAID he would continue efforts for a $1.25 hourly national minumum wage, and called for a joint resolution of the legislature supporting his stand. He also appealed for the support of organized labor, industry and finance.

He asked for continuation of the temporary state commission on the courts, final adoption of a county home rule amendment to the constitution and promised "further recommendations" to meet what he termed a progressively worsening mass transportation system around New York city.

The governor also called for protection of the forest preserve, reforestation of six million unproductive acres of land, and enlargement of the preserve.

He promised a special message on juvenile delinquency, said he was appointing a special aide to look after consumer interests, and pledged a review of a probe into the operation of union welfare funds.

He uses the name "John Short" in the bull ring and hopes to resume his career when his army service is ended. When he isn't fighting bulls—and isn't in the army—Short is an artist at Philadelphia, Pa.

Harriman Asks

wages of women and minors, be handed direct jurisdiction over wage standards of men.

2. Repeal of the Hughes-Brees amendment to the Unemployment Insurance Law, which gives a tax "break" to firms with stable employment records.

3. An increase from $30 to $36 a week in the maximum unemployment insurance benefits.

4. Additional unemployment benefits for dependents, allowing $4 per week for each dependent to a maximum of three.

5. Extension of unemployment insurance coverage to include employes of firms employing one or more workers.

6. Reduction of the minimum period of employment required to qualify for unemployment insurance from 20 to 15 weeks.

7. That the period of payment of benefits for off-the-job disability be extended to 20 weeks, under the same schedule as that recommended for unemployment insurance.

8. That the Department of Labor work closely with the Workmen's Compensation Board with a view toward lowering accident rates and thus reducing coverage costs.

BUSINESS and industrial groups in the state long have complained that New York's workmen's compensation costs were excessive.

Harriman also pledged to review the recent findings of the state superintendent of insurance that many union welfare and pension funds were being mismanaged.

The report of that investigation, ordered by former Gov. Dewey, recommended that legislation be enacted to give the State Insurance Department closer supervision of the funds, of which there are about 500 in the state.

Harriman recommended legislation "to increase the coverage of the Workmen's Compensation Law and to raise the scale of benefits payments so as to reflect increases in the cost of living and to maintain a realistic relationship between wages lost and benefits paid." He said there also should be a "more equitable standard of scheduled losses."

THE GOVERNOR, in his message, did not prescribe a specific scale of benefits.

Turning to civil service employes, Harriman said he would work toward three objectives "to the extent that the stringent state fiscal situation will permit." His aims, he said, were "1. To equalize pay scales for work of equal responsibiliy; 2. To extend the five-day, 40-hour week as uniformly as possible; 3. To initiate a full-scale in-service training program."

Schemeisser 9 mm. machine guns. Secret Police Chief Jorge Luisalfaro said guns of this type have been confiscated on previous occasions from Arias, who was ousted from the presidency in 1951 in a bloody coup by the National Guard. Remon was head of the guard at that time.

The popular strongman president was machinegunned to death Sunday as he chatted with friends at the Juan Franco Race Track, four miles from this city. Two other men were killed and three wounded in the exchange of gunfire between the president's bodyguard and his assassins.

FORMER VEEP IS BACK IN SENATE—Former Vice President Alben W. Barkley grins as he talks with two long time Senate colleagues before start of Democratic caucus in Washington (Jan. 4). At left is Sen. Robert Kerr (D.-Okla.) and at right is Sen. Lister Hill (D.-Ala.). Barkley was in the Senate for many years before he became Vice President in 1949. He defeated Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Republican, in last November election. (AP Wirephoto).

Congress Meets

Democrats will not oppose simply for the sake of opposition.

REELECTED as Democratic floor leader by a party caucus yesterday, Johnson said in an interview he and his colleagues have "rejected the theory that it is the duty of the opposition to oppose merely for opposition's sake."

"We are the party of responsibility and we will indulge in no reckless criticism or in attempts to harass the administration," Johnson said.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said he is looking forward to a "constructive session."

"I believe that on a good deal of legislation we will have cooperation between the two parties," he said.

Rep. Rayburn of Texas, the incoming Democratic House speaker, has said that body will go to work first on Eisenhower's expected proposal for a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, together with additional tariff-cutting powers.

WHILE DEMOCRATS in general likely will support that proposal, Rayburn told a caucus of Democratic representatives yesterday things were done and said by Republicans in last year's pre-election campaign that he could "neither forgive nor forget."

This was an obvious reference to "party of treason" charges the Democrats said were aimed at them during the campaign. It also echoed previous complaints by Rayburn about some of the tactics employed by Vice President Nixon and others.

When 14 new senators have been sworn in, the Senate's membership will include 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.).

Both parties delayed assignment of members to Senate committees at least until next week, when the Democrats are expected to put Morse on at least one major group.

Morse, who bolted the GOP during the 1952 presidential race, has indicated he might run for reelection in 1956 as a Democrat.

Judge Appointed

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today appointed Goodman Alexander Sarachan of Rochester to the State Supreme Court in the Seventh Judicial District. The appointment was sent immediately to the Senate for confirmation. Sarachan, 56, a Democrat and former assistant U. S. attorney for the Western District of New York, would fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Van Voorhis of Irondequoit, who was elected to the Court of Appeals in November. He will serve until Dec. 31. Voters of the district will elect a justice to a full 14-year term next November. The post pays $18,000 a year.

Council Votes

mated $7,000 in the building inspector's receipts.

ALL THREE objections were presented by Tenth Ward Alderman James K. Ryan, (D), minority member of the finance committee. He said the minority aldermen would like "a breakdown" instead of a lump sum listing of the $35,000 for salaries and wages paid for highway maintenance, and he felt the $7,000 in anticipated revenue in building inspection fees was far too small, and that a larger sum should be indicated in the budget.

Ninth Ward Alderman William K. Bodenweber (D), followed through on the proposal to charge a fee for beach facilities at Kingston Point, and after some argument, presented a resolution. Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly, explained to the alderman that under council regulations the proposal cited in the resolution must be considered tantamount to an emergency, and he called for a five-minute recess before the aldermen voted and the resolution was defeated.

THE COUNCIL VOTED, on recommendation of Mayor Frederick H. Stang, to "freeze" the $120 listed as a cost-of-living bonus to certain city employes, into the regular base-pay structure.

City Treasurer Oscar A. Goodsell was authorized to borrow $150,000 through issuance of tax anticipation notes pending the next collection of general taxes, a salary schedule adjustment was approved for housing authority employes, and a release pertaining to property taken for thruway use was granted.

Leon Studt, president of the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employes Association, allowed the privilege of the floor, expressed thanks "to the mayor for negotiating with an attorney in Albany for freezing in this pay."

Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy forwarded a resolution from the state public works department asking for the release on a section of the Cutler property in the Hurley avenue area, taken for the thruway. The city held an easement on the land, he said.

Mayor Stang's budget, which drew sparse comment at last week's public hearing, lists total appropriations at $1,823,836.87. Less estimated revenues of $575,410.32, it leaves the net appropriations at $1,248,426.55. It lists a total assessed valuation for tax levy of $31,673,896, and a total of $484,769.04 in state and county taxes. The estimated constitutional tax margin is $287,476.90.

After a long recess Ryan indicated that the Democrats were unwilling to vote approval of the budget last night. They favored recessing the meeting which would allow for more time and study of the budget and the proposed changes.

SECOND WARD Alderman Benjamain A. Storms, (R), reminded the alderman that copies of the budget have been available since before the public hearing a week ago. He suggested also that if they had requested specific information in the interim, they could have obtained it.

"We think it is a good budget—that you have had ample time to study it—I move its adoption."

Alderman Charles J. Cole, (R), 13th ward, said the minority members of the council had asked that the meeting be recessed, because they believed that "the making of a budget isn't one man's job, or one party's job."

Cole recalled that the councilmen have gone through "the same thing each year." He considered it a "pretty good budget on the whole, but I believe that in certain places revisions could be made."

The alderman said he felt that on such matters it is "up to the taxpayers and the lawmakers to get their heads together." He said he spoke in the interest of possibly gaining "a little more revenue," and the chance of saving "a dollar or more on the tax rate."

STORMS SAID, "I don't think this is a steamroller job," and he suggested that if the minority had anything specific to bring it up for immediate action and not necessitate a recessed meeting.

Alderman Bodenweber then said he felt that agreement on a modest charge at Kingston Point Beach would permit listing of another budget item as an asset in anticipated revenue, and he held the mayor had promised that a plan to this effect was to be submitted to the council. This was his understanding of the mayor's comment at the public hearing, he said.

Mayor Stang indicated at the hearing that no specific plan had been considered relative to the charging of admission at the beach, but he did say that it appears to be understood that if facilities are increased at the beach, the public expects it will have to pay some fee. If that is done, he said, "I think the beach, to a great extent, will be self-sustaining." He intended, he said, to submit the beach proposal to the aldermen within the next "two or three meetings."

Alderman-at-large Kelly said it was not his understanding of the mayor's comment at the hearing that he had specifically committed himself as to any charge at the beach.

Storms wanted to know if it was not up to the council whether to decide if there is to be a charge at the beach, and Bodenweber indicated that on that basis he was willing to offer a resolution called for a charge. It seemed more fair, he indicated, to tax the people who use the beach, through a small fee, than it would be to make it a general tax problem.

"I WOULD LIKE to make it clear that I am wholeheartedly in favor of the beach," Bodenweber said, but he felt that through a modest fee it could be a self-supporting project. A state beach at Lake George, he said, charges a 10-cent admission plus 25 cents for parking and 25 cents for use of bath houses.

Alderman Cole moved adoption of Bodenweber's resolution. As voting started, Alderman Hirschell Mayes, (R), first ward, noted that the city had been granted use without cost of the property used for the recreational facility, and he voted against the resolution.

Storms said he did not care to make a decision at the meeting as to charging at the beach, and he voted against it.

RYAN SAID he did not see why the city could not charge an admission if it saw fit to do so, and he suggested that those undecided at the meeting should "not vote at all."

Abram D. Relyea, (R), 11th ward, noted that the beach does not belong to the city yet, and he believed "we should go into the problem more thoroughly" before deciding as to a fee.

Robert C. Cullum, 12th ward, said, "I place the beach in the same category as our playgrounds—It should be open to all."

ALDERMAN COLE figured it wrong to make a point of the fact that the city did not own the beach property. The city, he argued, is improving it, and the owner in a sense, is getting a return on his investment. There shouldn't be any misunderstanding of the fact that the city could not charge if it desired to, because "the city assumes the responsibility." Cole also said the city did not own all of its recreation facilities. Some parks were on leased property, he noted, and he felt the opposing aldermen were "making a bad mistake," in not favoring a fee for the beach.

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel, (D) in reply to Cullum, who, he noted is a member of the building committee, cited items of $6,000 apiece for the stadium and municipal auditorium, both of which get returns through fees.

CULLUM EXPLAINED that both facilities are open to the recreation department free of charge, and that fees, or charges are collected only for promotions or outside interests.

Sixth Ward Alderman George P. Norton, Jr., (R), mentioned several communities with beach projects operated without charging the public, citing Saugerties and Rifton among them.

Cole replied: "Give credit where credit is due." These, he said did not have the facilities of the Kingston project, and what they did offer had to be paid for, because "today you don't get anything for nothing."

Fifth Ward Alderman Samuel J. Perry (R) said he was voting against the Bodenweber resolution pending review of whatever proposal the mayor planned to submit.

The aldermen voted to permit S. Burrell Schwartzwaelder, superintendent of buildings, to attend the Sixth Annual Building Inspectors School Feb. 17 and 18 in New York.

A CLAIM OF $7 by Mrs. J. H. Schoonmaker, of 39 Charlotte street, because of damage done due to the backing up of a sewer, was read and referred to the corporation counsel. The amount represented a plumber's bill.

The aldermen acted to adjust salaries of employes of the housing authority amounting to a $200 raise for the project manager and $120 each for the maintenance mechanic and laborer. The legislation fixes the top salary of the project manager at $4,500 after payment of five $100 annual increments, one of which has been paid.

The top salary of the maintenance mechanic with increments paid at the discretion of the authority is $3,320, and that for the laborer on the same basis is $3,120. The project manager's salary as of Dec. 1, 1954, was $4,100.

The proposed changes were submitted by Harry Gold, counsel for the local housing authority. The salaries are fixed by the state division of housing.

The Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, opened the meeting with a prayer, and Alderman-at-Large Kelly led in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

FORMER VEEP IS BACK IN SENATE—Former Vice President Alben W. Barkley grins as he talks with two long time Senate colleagues before start of Democratic caucus in Washington (Jan. 4). At left is Sen. Robert Kerr (D.-Okla.) and at right is Sen. Lister Hill (D.-Ala.). Barkley was in the Senate for many years before he became Vice President in 1949. He defeated Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Republican, in last November election. (AP Wirephoto).

Congress Meets

Democrats will not oppose simply for the sake of opposition.

REELECTED as Democratic floor leader by a party caucus yesterday, Johnson said in an interview he and his colleagues have "rejected the theory that it is the duty of the opposition to oppose merely for opposition's sake."

"We are the party of responsibility and we will indulge in no reckless criticism or in attempts to harass the administration," Johnson said.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said he is looking forward to a "constructive session."

"I believe that on a good deal of legislation we will have cooperation between the two parties," he said.

Rep. Rayburn of Texas, the incoming Democratic House speaker, has said that body will go to work first on Eisenhower's expected proposal for a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, together with additional tariff-cutting powers.

WHILE DEMOCRATS in general likely will support that proposal, Rayburn told a caucus of Democratic representatives yesterday things were done and said by Republicans in last year's pre-election campaign that he could "neither forgive nor forget."

This was an obvious reference to "party of treason" charges the Democrats said were aimed at them during the campaign. It also echoed previous complaints by Rayburn about some of the tactics employed by Vice President Nixon and others.

When 14 new senators have been sworn in, the Senate's membership will include 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.).

Both parties delayed assignment of members to Senate committees at least until next week, when the Democrats are expected to put Morse on at least one major group.

Morse, who bolted the GOP during the 1952 presidential race, has indicated he might run for reelection in 1956 as a Democrat.

Judge Appointed

Albany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today appointed Goodman Alexander Sarachan of Rochester to the State Supreme Court in the Seventh Judicial District. The appointment was sent immediately to the Senate for confirmation. Sarachan, 56, a Democrat and former assistant U. S. attorney for the Western District of New York, would fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Van Voorhis of Irondequoit, who was elected to the Court of Appeals in November. He will serve until Dec. 31. Voters of the district will elect a justice to a full 14-year term next November. The post pays $18,000 a year.

Council Votes

mated $7,000 in the building inspector's receipts.

ALL THREE objections were presented by Tenth Ward Alderman James K. Ryan, (D), minority member of the finance committee. He said the minority aldermen would like "a breakdown" instead of a lump sum listing of the $35,000 for salaries and wages paid for highway maintenance, and he felt the $7,000 in anticipated revenue in building inspection fees was far too small, and that a larger sum should be indicated in the budget.

Ninth Ward Alderman William K. Bodenweber (D), followed through on the proposal to charge a fee for beach facilities at Kingston Point, and after some argument, presented a resolution. Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly, explained to the alderman that under council regulations the proposal cited in the resolution must be considered tantamount to an emergency, and he called for a five-minute recess before the aldermen voted and the resolution was defeated.

THE COUNCIL VOTED, on recommendation of Mayor Frederick H. Stang, to "freeze" the $120 listed as a cost-of-living bonus to certain city employes, into the regular base-pay structure.

City Treasurer Oscar A. Goodsell was authorized to borrow $150,000 through issuance of tax anticipation notes pending the next collection of general taxes, a salary schedule adjustment was approved for housing authority employes, and a release pertaining to property taken for thruway use was granted.

Leon Studt, president of the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employes Association, allowed the privilege of the floor, expressed thanks "to the mayor for negotiating with an attorney in Albany for freezing in this pay."

Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy forwarded a resolution from the state public works department asking for the release on a section of the Cutler property in the Hurley avenue area, taken for the thruway. The city held an easement on the land, he said.

Mayor Stang's budget, which drew sparse comment at last week's public hearing, lists total appropriations at $1,823,836.87. Less estimated revenues of $575,410.32, it leaves the net appropriations at $1,248,426.55. It lists a total assessed valuation for tax levy of $31,673,896, and a total of $484,769.04 in state and county taxes. The estimated constitutional tax margin is $287,476.90.

After a long recess Ryan indicated that the Democrats were unwilling to vote approval of the budget last night. They favored recessing the meeting which would allow for more time and study of the budget and the proposed changes.

SECOND WARD Alderman Benjamain A. Storms, (R), reminded the alderman that copies of the budget have been available since before the public hearing a week ago. He suggested also that if they had requested specific information in the interim, they could have obtained it.

"We think it is a good budget—that you have had ample time to study it—I move its adoption."

Alderman Charles J. Cole, (R), 13th ward, said the minority members of the council had asked that the meeting be recessed, because they believed that "the making of a budget isn't one man's job, or one party's job."

Cole recalled that the councilmen have gone through "the same thing each year." He considered it a "pretty good budget on the whole, but I believe that in certain places revisions could be made."

The alderman said he felt that on such matters it is "up to the taxpayers and the lawmakers to get their heads together." He said he spoke in the interest of possibly gaining "a little more revenue," and the chance of saving "a dollar or more on the tax rate."

STORMS SAID, "I don't think this is a steamroller job," and he suggested that if the minority had anything specific to bring it up for immediate action and not necessitate a recessed meeting.

Alderman Bodenweber then said he felt that agreement on a modest charge at Kingston Point Beach would permit listing of another budget item as an asset in anticipated revenue, and he held the mayor had promised that a plan to this effect was to be submitted to the council. This was his understanding of the mayor's comment at the public hearing, he said.

Mayor Stang indicated at the hearing that no specific plan had been considered relative to the charging of admission at the beach, but he did say that it appears to be understood that if facilities are increased at the beach, the public expects it will have to pay some fee. If that is done, he said, "I think the beach, to a great extent, will be self-sustaining." He intended, he said, to submit the beach proposal to the aldermen within the next "two or three meetings."

Alderman-at-large Kelly said it was not his understanding of the mayor's comment at the hearing that he had specifically committed himself as to any charge at the beach.

Storms wanted to know if it was not up to the council whether to decide if there is to be a charge at the beach, and Bodenweber indicated that on that basis he was willing to offer a resolution called for a charge. It seemed more fair, he indicated, to tax the people who use the beach, through a small fee, than it would be to make it a general tax problem.

"I WOULD LIKE to make it clear that I am wholeheartedly in favor of the beach," Bodenweber said, but he felt that through a modest fee it could be a self-supporting project. A state beach at Lake George, he said, charges a 10-cent admission plus 25 cents for parking and 25 cents for use of bath houses.

Alderman Cole moved adoption of Bodenweber's resolution. As voting started, Alderman Hirschell Mayes, (R), first ward, noted that the city had been granted use without cost of the property used for the recreational facility, and he voted against the resolution.

Storms said he did not care to make a decision at the meeting as to charging at the beach, and he voted against it.

RYAN SAID he did not see why the city could not charge an admission if it saw fit to do so, and he suggested that those undecided at the meeting should "not vote at all."

Abram D. Relyea, (R), 11th ward, noted that the beach does not belong to the city yet, and he believed "we should go into the problem more thoroughly" before deciding as to a fee.

Robert C. Cullum, 12th ward, said, "I place the beach in the same category as our playgrounds—It should be open to all."

ALDERMAN COLE figured it wrong to make a point of the fact that the city did not own the beach property. The city, he argued, is improving it, and the owner in a sense, is getting a return on his investment. There shouldn't be any misunderstanding of the fact that the city could not charge if it desired to, because "the city assumes the responsibility." Cole also said the city did not own all of its recreation facilities. Some parks were on leased property, he noted, and he felt the opposing aldermen were "making a bad mistake," in not favoring a fee for the beach.

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel, (D) in reply to Cullum, who, he noted is a member of the building committee, cited items of $6,000 apiece for the stadium and municipal auditorium, both of which get returns through fees.

CULLUM EXPLAINED that both facilities are open to the recreation department free of charge, and that fees, or charges are collected only for promotions or outside interests.

Sixth Ward Alderman George P. Norton, Jr., (R), mentioned several communities with beach projects operated without charging the public, citing Saugerties and Rifton among them.

Cole replied: "Give credit where credit is due." These, he said did not have the facilities of the Kingston project, and what they did offer had to be paid for, because "today you don't get anything for nothing."

Fifth Ward Alderman Samuel J. Perry (R) said he was voting against the Bodenweber resolution pending review of whatever proposal the mayor planned to submit.

The aldermen voted to permit S. Burrell Schwartzwaelder, superintendent of buildings, to attend the Sixth Annual Building Inspectors School Feb. 17 and 18 in New York.

A CLAIM OF $7 by Mrs. J. H. Schoonmaker, of 39 Charlotte street, because of damage done due to the backing up of a sewer, was read and referred to the corporation counsel. The amount represented a plumber's bill.

The aldermen acted to adjust salaries of employes of the housing authority amounting to a $200 raise for the project manager and $120 each for the maintenance mechanic and laborer. The legislation fixes the top salary of the project manager at $4,500 after payment of five $100 annual increments, one of which has been paid.

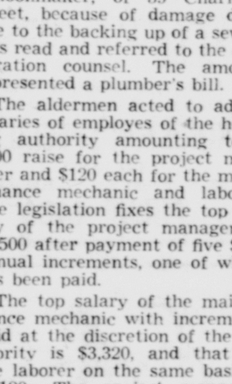

The top salary of the maintenance mechanic with increments paid at the discretion of the authority is $3,320, and that for the laborer on the same basis is $3,120. The project manager's salary as of Dec. 1, 1954, was $4,100.

The proposed changes were submitted by Harry Gold, counsel for the local housing authority. The salaries are fixed by the state division of housing.

The Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, opened the meeting with a prayer, and Alderman-at-Large Kelly led in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

Report to Recommend Transportation Study

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—A report next month will recommend a million-dollar study and plan to prevent "catastrophe" in New York-New Jersey transportation, it was disclosed today.

Charles H. Tuttle, chairman of the Bi-State Metropolitan Rapid Transit Commission named by the legislatures of both states, made the forecast at a meeting of the Board of Governors of the New York Board of Trade.

Saying that the transit situation in the metropolitan area has become a "calamity" and "congestions have become strangulations," Tuttle estimated the economic losses from the transit situation at over a billion dollars a year.

Tuttle said the commission would try to bring about postponement of any planned curtailment of rail and ferry service in the commuter area while a master plan is drawn up.

Dana Wound Was Self-Inflicted

Chicopee, Mass., Jan. 5 (AP)—An autopsy on the body of Albert Dana, 22, bridegroom of two months, today showed a bullet wound in his head was self-inflicted.

Dana was shot early yesterday in the hotel room he shared with his bride, Doris Dana, 22.

Mrs. Dana, holding the gun in her hand, led police to her husband's body in the Hotel Edwards.

She was charged with drunkenness but Dist. Atty. Stephan A. Moynahan said she had no connection with the gun death of her husband.

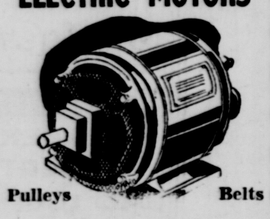

Moynahan said the autopsy was performed by Dr. Stephan Bjornson, state pathologist, and Medical Examiner W. A. R. Chapin.

Police Chief Theodore A. Fisher said the couple was married in Keene, N. H., and occupied the hotel room here for about a month.

Benny in Hospital

Hollywood, Jan. 5 (AP)—Comedian Jack Benny is in a hospital bed instead of playing golf today. He planned to participate in a pro-celebrity 18-hole round at Inglewood Country Club, an event preliminary to the Los Angeles Open tournament starting tomorrow. But Benny entered Cedars of Lebanon Hospital yesterday, suffering from a mild virus attack. The hospital said last night he was resting comfortably but would stay there two or three days.

The answers to everyday insurance problems
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: I've had a $50.00 deductible collision policy for years and have never profited by it. All my accidents (three) have involved less than $50.00 so I had to pay. How much extra would I pay for full coverage?
ANSWER: Very much more than you are now paying for the $50.00 deductible. The rate is purposely set high to discourage people from taking it—otherwise the insurance companies would be continuously subjected to many small claims. With $50.00 deductible, you are letting the insurance company worry about the big ones that could really hit your pocketbook.
• If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

N.Y. Reservoirs Are 'Comfortably Filled', Is Report

Croton-on-Hudson, Jan. 5 (AP)—Reservoirs serving New York city are described by watershed engineers as "comfortably filled."

They attributed this to use of the new Delaware system and heavier than average rainfall during December and all of 1954.

They foresaw no likelihood of the near-critical shortage of 1949-50 being repeated.

Water six inches above capacity in Croton Reservoir is spilling cascades down the face of Cornell Dam into the hitherto parched Croton river.

The Catskill-Croton reservoirs as a whole held about 228,040,000,000 gallons yesterday, or 90.1 per cent of capacity.

In December, an average of 415 million gallons of water a day was drawn from the new Rondout, Neversink and Pepacton reservoirs in the Delaware system.

Rainfall in the Croton-Catskill area measured 3.78 inches in December, compared with an average of 3.52 for the month. For all of 1954, the rainfall was 47.76 inches, or 3 per cent more than the yearly normal of 46.58 inches.

Hammarskjold Reaches Peiping

Tokyo, Jan. 5 (AP)—UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold arrived in Peiping today on his mission to secure the freedom of 11 U. S. airmen and other UN personnel held by the Chinese Communists.

Peiping radio said the party arrived by air.

The Red broadcast said Hammarskjold was met at the airport by Chang Han Fu, vice foreign minister of the Peoples Republic of China; Tung Yueh Chien, director of the department of international organizations and conferences; and Wang Cho Ju, chief of protocol of the foreign ministry.

Also present the radio said were ambassadors of Czechoslovakia, Poland, India, Sweden, and the Soviet Union; ministers of Finland, Denmark and Switzerland; the charge d'affaires of the Netherlands, and charge d'affaires and interim of Norway, Pakistan and Burma, the counsellor of the office of the British charge d'affaires and the first secretary of the Indonesian Embassy.

state department in opposition to each other.

Ladejinsky had security clearance from the state department but his post was shifted to agriculture department control by an act of the last Congress and Secretary of Agriculture Benson, on advice of his security officer, ruled against retention of Ladejinsky in the attache position.

In addition to the security finding, the agriculture department held that Ladejinsky lacked technical qualifications that the department would require.

RECALLED BY WEST GERMAN GOVERNMENT — German Charge d'Affaires Oscar Schlitter and his wife, Daisy, shown at the West German Embassy in London, Jan. 2, returned to Bon Jan. 4 after being recalled by the West German government. The government apologized for Mrs. Schlitter, a former beauty queen and actress, who called Britain "an enemy country" in a Christmas party speech at the German diplomatic mission in London. The reference was a slip of the tongue and had no political significance, the government said. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London).

Thaw Is Reported

London, Jan. 5 (AP)—A thaw set in over southern England and Wales today, slowly reducing to heavy slush the deepest snow cover in seven years. The fall of dense, sticky snow let up during the night and by dawn rail and road travel gradually returned to normal. Yesterday's storm belt extended over 55 counties south of a line from Liverpool to the Suffolk coast. Some 50,000 square miles were heavily blanketed in the worst snowstorm since 1947. Easterly gale force winds whipped up drifts of up to 12 feet.

Report to Recommend Transportation Study

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—A report next month will recommend a million-dollar study and plan to prevent "catastrophe" in New York-New Jersey transportation, it was disclosed today.

Charles H. Tuttle, chairman of the Bi-State Metropolitan Rapid Transit Commission named by the legislatures of both states, made the forecast at a meeting of the Board of Governors of the New York Board of Trade.

Saying that the transit situation in the metropolitan area has become a "calamity" and "congestions have become strangulations," Tuttle estimated the economic losses from the transit situation at over a billion dollars a year.

Tuttle said the commission would try to bring about postponement of any planned curtailment of rail and ferry service in the commuter area while a master plan is drawn up.

Dana Wound Was Self-Inflicted

Chicopee, Mass., Jan. 5 (AP)—An autopsy on the body of Albert Dana, 22, bridegroom of two months, today showed a bullet wound in his head was self-inflicted.

Dana was shot early yesterday in the hotel room he shared with his bride, Doris Dana, 22.

Mrs. Dana, holding the gun in her hand, led police to her husband's body in the Hotel Edwards.

She was charged with drunkenness but Dist. Atty. Stephan A. Moynahan said she had no connection with the gun death of her husband.

Moynahan said the autopsy was performed by Dr. Stephan Bjornson, state pathologist, and Medical Examiner W. A. R. Chapin.

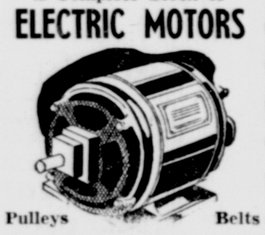

Police Chief Theodore A. Fisher said the couple was married in Keene, N. H., and occupied the hotel room here for about a month.

Benny in Hospital

Hollywood, Jan. 5 (AP)—Comedian Jack Benny is in a hospital bed instead of playing golf today. He planned to participate in a pro-celebrity 18-hole round at Inglewood Country Club, an event preliminary to the Los Angeles Open tournament starting tomorrow. But Benny entered Cedars of Lebanon Hospital yesterday, suffering from a mild virus attack. The hospital said last night he was resting comfortably but would stay there two or three days.

Now you Know!
The answers to everyday insurance problems*
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: I've had a $50.00 deductible collision policy for years and have never profited by it. All my accidents (three) have involved less than $50.00 so I had to pay. How much extra would I pay for full coverage?

ANSWER: Very much more than you are now paying for the $50.00 deductible. The rate is purposely set high to discourage people from taking it—otherwise the insurance companies would be continuously subjected to many small claims. With $50.00 deductible, you are letting the insurance company worry about the big ones that could really hit your pocketbook.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

N.Y. Reservoirs Are 'Comfortably Filled', Is Report

Croton-on-Hudson, Jan. 5 (AP)—Reservoirs serving New York city are described by watershed engineers as "comfortably filled."

They attributed this to use of the new Delaware system and heavier than average rainfall during December and all of 1954.

They foresaw no likelihood of the near-critical shortage of 1949-50 being repeated.

Water six inches above capacity in Croton Reservoir is spilling cascades down the face of Cornell Dam into the hitherto parched Croton river.

The Catskill-Croton reservoirs as a whole held about 228,040,000,000 gallons yesterday, or 90.1 per cent of capacity.

In December, an average of 415 million gallons of water a day was drawn from the new Rondout, Neversink and Pepacton reservoirs in the Delaware system.

Rainfall in the Croton-Catskill area measured 3.78 inches in December, compared with an average of 3.52 for the month. For all of 1954, the rainfall was 47.76 inches, or 3 per cent more than the yearly normal of 46.58 inches.

Hammarskjold Reaches Peiping

Tokyo, Jan. 5 (AP)—UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold arrived in Peiping today on his mission to secure the freedom of 11 U. S. airmen and other UN personnel held by the Chinese Communists.

Peiping radio said the party arrived by air.

The Red broadcast said Hammarskjold was met at the airport by Chang Han Fu, vice foreign minister of the Peoples Republic of China; Tung Yueh Chien, director of the department of international organizations and conferences; and Wang Cho Ju, chief of protocol of the foreign ministry.

Also present the radio said were ambassadors of Czechoslovakia, Poland, India, Sweden, and the Soviet Union; ministers of Finland, Denmark and Switzerland; the charge d'affaires of the Netherlands, and charge d'affaires and interim of Norway, Pakistan and Burma, the counsellor of the office of the British charge d'affaires and the first secretary of the Indonesian Embassy.

Ladejinsky to Be

state department in opposition to each other.

Ladejinsky had security clearance from the state department but his post was shifted to agriculture department control by an act of the last Congress and Secretary of Agriculture Benson, on advice of his security officer, ruled against retention of Ladejinsky in the attache position.

In addition to the security finding, the agriculture department held that Ladejinsky lacked technical qualifications that the department would require.

RECALLED BY WEST GERMAN GOVERNMENT — German Charge d'Affaires Oscar Schlitter and his wife, Daisy, shown at the West German Embassy in London, Jan. 2, returned to Bon Jan. 4 after being recalled by the West German government. The government apologized for Mrs. Schlitter, a former beauty queen and actress, who called Britain "an enemy country" in a Christmas party speech at the German diplomatic mission in London. The reference was a slip of the tongue and had no political significance, the government said. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London).

Thaw Is Reported

London, Jan. 5 (AP)—A thaw set in over southern England and Wales today, slowly reducing to heavy slush the deepest snow cover in seven years. The fall of dense, sticky snow let up during the night and by dawn rail and road travel gradually returned to normal. Yesterday's storm belt extended over 55 counties south of a line from Liverpool to the Suffolk coast. Some 50,000 square miles were heavily blanketed in the worst snowstorm since 1947. Easterly gale force winds whipped up drifts of up to 12 feet.
